(*Another listing of family of Edward McCarty II gives name of fi child as Milaney, date born 8 May 1824, and date of death as 1 July 18
Date of death given is same as that of Cenie, which is unlikely. It believed this isintended for Melice McCarty, born 1844 and died young three years old. Details of her birth and death are given on tombston that of Eunice McCarty, one headstone for both. The name Milaney does appear in any list now available, and no headstone was found in Hepzib Cemetery bearing her name.)

(I do not understand the absence of xxxx of Lena's name among thos
Hepzibah Cemetery, since she is shown as having died young, and in suc should have been buried there. It would seem, though, that she was no at the time the will of Edward II was written in 1870, as all living then were named in the will.)

EDWARD AND SARAH MCCARTY OF SC AND MS

Edward MCCARTY (11 Feb 1772 SC - 1852 ~~after 1850 prob~~. Wayne Co, MS) was a farmer and slave holder who moved from Edgefield Co, SC, into Wayne Co, MS, about 1822. On 28 July 1790 in Edgefield District, SC, he md Sarah LARAMORE (or LARRIMORE) (22 Sep 1772 SC - after 1860 Wayne Co, MS), dau of Edward and Martha LARAMORE (or LAREMON) of NC and SC. The Edward MCCARTY family lived on 550 acres of land between Mine Creek and Dry Creek near Saluda in Edgefield District, SC. They sold this land in 1821 to William RAIFORD and moved by wagon to Wayne Co, MS, where they settled on Eucutta Creek near the present Clarke County line. Their ch were recorded in an old 1792 hynmal as Alfurd; Amos; Eunicey; Annas; Edward; Alouthea; Bryant; Michael; Sarah; Kindred; Orange; and Simpson, along with their dates of birth. He was later on Eucutty River with others of his family. He md in 1810, prob. in SC, Sarah WALKER (1795 SC - not listed 1870), and their ch incl Hyram; Sereny; Enoch; Calender; Morten; Briant; Mary; Seine (prob. Ciny); Lavina; Alfred; and Phillip. (Alfred MCCARTY was not with his family in 1850. His death year may be wrong. Sarah was with the five younger ch.) In 1860, Sarah lived with the family of Briant MCCARTY, next to that of Enoch MCCARTY.
Morton MCCARTY had moved to Winn Parish, LA.

2. Amos (14 Dec 1792 SC - 1851 ~~after 185~~0, Catahoula Parish, LA) on 10 Jan 1815, prob in Edgefield District, SC, md (1) Elizabeth WALKER (10 Jan 1798 SC - 5 Oct 1837 Lawrence Co, MS), dau of Francis WALKER, Sr, of SC and MS. They lived in Wayne Co on Chickasawhay River, but moved by 1830 to Simpson Co. By 1837 they were in Lawrence Co. Their ch were Sereny; Allen; Willia; Martha; Marina; Charity Ann; Elizabeth; Sarah Jane; and Lafayette.. After Elizabeth died, md (2) __________, probably before he moved in 1838 to LA to Catahoula (later Winn) Parish. This wife probably died 10 Sep 184_, after having Margaret; Emily; and Permelia. In 1850, Amos was in Catahoula Parish with Sarah Jane; Lafayette; Emily; and Permelia. He was not identified in 1860. His son, Allen MCCARTY, had a large family nearby in 1850, and he was still there in 1860. (The Jackman record shows Amos md Lizzie McNeil and had Anna; George; and John. It is not known whether this was the first or second wife.)

3. Eunicey (14 Sep 1794 SC - not listed 1870) md Richard WAGSTER (- d before 1850 Clarke Co, MS) and lived in a large home west of Shubuta, MS, in Clarke Co. It is possible that they had one dau. In 1850, Helen HAILES (1841 MS) was with Unicy as a possible grand-dau.

4. Annas (6 Sep 1796 SC - prob. 1866/1870, Wayne Co, MS) was third of the MCCARTY ch to marry into a WALKER family. There were numerous WALKER families in Edgefield Co, SC, and in Wayne Co, MS, where the marriages prob. took place, so it is unlikely all three were into the same family. However, by process of comparison, family name patterns, and proximity to relatives, it seems conclusive that Amos and Annas did both marry into the same family. About 1825 in Wayne Co, MS, Annas prob. md Henry WALKER (1800/1810 SC - 1845/1850 Simpson Co, MS) son of Francis Walker, Sr. In both 1830 and 1840, Annas WALKER is shown in the next older age bracket than Henry, and the oldest child presently identified was born in 1828 in MS. The ch with Annas in Simpson Co in 1850 were Permelia (1828 MS); Orange (1830 MS); Annas (1833 MS); Willis (1836 MS); and Asa (1838 MS). The 1830 and 1840 censuses indicate there was a third daughter, two being present in 1830, and three being present in 1840. This older dau was either older than Permelia or between Permelia and Orange. By 1830, Henry had moved to Simpson Co, MS, along with Amos MCCARTY and other WALKER relatives. In 1840, he had moved into the newly opened lands in Smith Co, and was next to John CAMPBELL. Two houses were between him and Samuel BOWEN, father of Nancy BOWEN, who later md Sampson ORRENDER, nephew to Annas. Henry apparently was back in Simpson Co by 1845, then Annas was there with her family for 1850. By 1860, Annas WALKER had moved back to Wayne Co near her 90 year old mother, Sarah MCCARTY. Daus Permelia and Annas were still unm, but son Willis has started a family nearby. The 1866 state census shows an older female with the Willis WALKER family, and this was likely Annas. She has not been found on the 1870 census and probably died before it was taken.

5. Edward, II, (6 Sep 1798 SC - 1881 MS, bur Hepzibah Cem, Shubuta, Clarke Co, MS) md Jane SMITH (1805 SC - 19 Aug 1870 Shubuta, MS) and farmed in Wayne and Clarke Counties of MS. Ch incl Milancy; Berry; Lena; Eunice; Martha; Cenie; Edward; Emaline; Mary Jane; and Sarah. (Census records show Lona and Dicy, prob. misreading for two of the above.) This family was closely associated with the Hepzibah Baptist Church in Clarke Co, and dozens of MCCARTYs are buried in its cemetery. Apparently, Hepzibah Baptist Church was the religious base for most of the MCCARTY families in this part of Clarke and nearby Wayne counties.

6. Alouthea (19 Jul 1800 SC - after 1860, prob. Clarke Co, MS) md c 1815 in SC Henry ORINDER, but they moved with the MCCARTYs to Wayne Co during the 1820's, then on to Rankin Co by 1830, still with members of the MCCARTY family. ORINDER sons were Sampson and Tillman while daughters were Matilda and others whose names may have been Martha and Julia. Henry disappeared about 1840/41, and "Letha" returned to Wayne Co to live near her parents. In 1845, one son and one dau were with her. Any other ch were likely farmed out with relatives. The two ORINDER sons became ARENDER and ARINDER, respectively. In 1860, Letha was with the fam of her son Tillman ARINDER in Clarke Co. (The Jackman record shows a dau Marena who md John M. Smilery, but no such name has been found on census records.)

7. Bryant (1 Nov 1803 SC - after 1860, bur MCCARTY Plantation Cem, Scott Co, MS) moved to Rankin Co, MS, by 1830 along with Henry ORINDER. By 1841, he was in Scott Co, where his children became prominent citizens. (Years later, Sampson ORINDER worked a MCCARTY farm in Rankin Co, which could have been his uncle´s land, but there is no oral tradition this was the case.) Bryant md Anne SMITH (1804 Edgefield Co, SC - c 1858 Scott Co, MS), dau of John and Martha (JONES) SMITH, and ch incl Anderson; Calvin A.; Vinson Bryant, Jr; Annie; Thomas; Charlotte; Orren; and Everett E. (In 1860, Bryant was without wife, but had in his hh Everett and Joannah (1840 GA), identity of Joannah not known.) (The Jackman record shows additional ch Florinda; Melissa; and Alonzo.)

8. Michael (4 Nov 1806 SC - after 1860) was a farmer in Wayne and Clarke Counties of MS. In 1828 he md Maria HAILES (1841 - May 1890), dau of Judge Henry HAILES. Their ch incl Cynthia; Miranda; and Visa. (One census record showed Lavina, possibly Visa.) This family had 700 acres of land two miles north of Shubuta in Clarke Co. They were Baptists. Michael MCCARTY was Justice of the Peace for many years, and a Supervisor from his beat for four years.

9. Sarah (4 Dec 1808 SC - 4 June 1871, bur McCarty Cem, Burke, Angelina Co, TX) md William ARRINGTON (7 Jan 1813 - 21 Dec 1903, bur McCarty Cem, Burke, TX), son of Arthur and Milly Ann ARRINGTON, and ARRINGTON ch were Catherine; Lavina; Ochine; Sterling; Sarah; Mary A.; Arthur; and Nancy. They moved to TX to Angelina Co in 1870, near Bryant MCCARTY and his family. William, Sterling, and Jehiel ARRINGTON had their families in dwellings but were all listed as "newcomers." They had been in Clarke Co in 1840 and 1860, but have not been located for 1850. In 1880, William ARRINGTON, Sr, lived with his son Arthur in TX. Sterling and Larkin ARRINGTON had families nearby.

10. Kindred K. (1 Apr 1811 SC - 1850/1860 Winn Par, LA) md Cassa A. BARBER (1817 NC - 1885 Winn Parish, LA, bur Siloam Bap. Ch Cem)), and ch listed in 1850 in Clarke Co and in 1860 in Winn Parish, LA, incl Edward A.; James H.; Kendred L.; Orange; Albert; Ira S.; Titus P.; and dau Cassa A. Dau Cassa A. (June 1849 MS - 1902 LA) md A. R. MCDONALD, and is also bur at Siloam. Titus P. (1849 MS - 1887 LA) is also bur at Siloam.

11. Orange B. (23 May 1813 SC - 1897 Burke, Angelina Co, TX, bur MCCARTY Cem) md Mary ARRINGTON, and farmed in Clarke Co. In 1850, apparent nephew Sampson Orander was his overseer. In 1860, Orange went to Burke, Angelina Co, TX, and purchased land to resettle. He returned to Clarke Co, MS, for his family; but the Civil War intervened. The family was finally able to move in 1866. He md Mary ARRINGTON (1822 MS - 1881 Angelina Co, TX) and their six sons were Amos; Berry T.; Orange; Kindred; Michael; and Elias. Kendrick and Michael were killed during the Civil War, and Orange, Jr, lost one leg. By 1870, the family was established in Angelina Co, TX, with Orange, Sr, Orange, Jr, and Elias in adjacent households. Berry and his wife were with Orange Sr and Maria. Two blacks, Lewis and George MCCARTY, were with the family as young laborers. By 1880, Orange and Mary were without ch in Angelina Co with three laborers living with them.

12. Simpson (11 Apr 1816 SC -) md Mahalia REDD(- 15 Mar 1931 MS), and ch incl Vinson V.; Anis; Albania ("Baney"); Alice; Almarina; Eunice ("Unity"); Sarah J. ("Sallie"), and Almida (?Beadie). In 1860, one dau was listed as Marian. Simpson lived in Wayne Co and in 1866 had a hh of 20 people. They were near Sarah MCCARTY and Annas WALKER in Wayne Co, MS, in 1860. Vinson V. MCCARTY had started his fam in the next hh. (The Jackman record shows the name of Simpson´s wife as Martha (BOND) EASTERLING, and also shows a child named Beatrice.)

In 1860, Sarah MCCARTY was still head of her hh, though she was listed as 90 years old. With her were Matilda PARKER (1830 MS) and her apparent PARKER ch Susan (1848 MS); John (1850 MS); and son Darlin (1855 MS). The households around her were those of her ch Simpson MCCARTY and Annas WALKER. It is possible that Matilda PARKER was a widowed granddau, or some other relative; but no proof has been found..

The MCCARTY name was quite common in Edgefield Co, SC, and it seems likely they were one extended family, believed to be the sons and relatives of Michael MCCARTY, Jr, a Rev War pensioner who lived in Edgefield Co, but moved in 1827 to Elyton, AL, on the Warrior River, in Jefferson County, where he died. Some of those in the wagon train with Edward MCCARTY may have stopped at the Warrior River in 1822. There was a tradition that the train had trouble, not defined, at the Warrior River. After the Edward MCCARTY wagon train reached Wayne Co, MS, they spread into several of the counties opened by the Choctaw Cessions of 1820 and 1835. They had settled in the North Central townships of Wayne Co, along the border with the Choctaw Indians. Part of the area where they lived was sliced off into Clarke Co, when that county was formed. The MCCARTY families were on both sides of the new county line.

a. Alouthea (19 Jul 1800 SC - after 1860, prob. Clark Co, MS) md Henry Orinder in SC, but they moved with the McCartys to Wayne Co by 1828, then on to Rankin Co, still with members of the McCarty fam. Sons were Sampson and Tillman while daughters were Matilda and others whose names are not known. Henry disappeared about 1840, and "Letha" probably returned to Wayne Co near her parents. In 1845, one son and one daughter were with her. Any other ch were probably farmed out with relatives. Letha was said to be the sixth child of her family.

b. Edward, Jr (1798 SC -) was a farmer in Wayne and Clark counties of MS. He md Jane__________ and ch incl Lona; Dicy; Martha; Jane; Edward;

c. Michael (1806 SC -) was a farmer in Wayne and Clark counties of MS. He md Maria ___________ and ch incl Lavina:

d. Orange (1814 SC -) md Mary ___________and farmed in Clark Co. Ch incl Amos; Orange; Kindred; Michael; Elias;
In 1850, apparent nephew Sampson Orander was his overseer.

e. Bryan ( ) moved to Rankin Co by 1830 along with Henry Orinder. Years later, Sampson Orrender lived on the McCarty place in Rankin Co. Possibly this was his uncle's place, but there is no oral tradition that it was.

f. Simpson ( ) md Mahalia___________ and ch incl Vinson; Anis; Albania; Alice; Almarina; and Almida. He lived in Wayne Co and in 1866 had a hh of over 20 people.

g. Amos ( ) He was on Chickasawhay River in Wayne Co, but moved to Simpson Co by 1830. He seems less likely than the others to be son of Edward and Sarah; however, the given name of Amos was much used among Orrenders.

Edward McCarty, p 2

h. Alfred ( ) was on Eucutty River in Wayne Co along with Edward McCarty, Sr from 1823 through 1829. He had been in Wayne Co in 1820, preceding the move by Edward McCarty.

The McCarty name was quite common in Edgefield Co, SC, though it seems likely they were related. All those who came to Wayne Co were likely from this extended family. From Wayne Co, the McCartys moved into several counties opened by the Choctaw Cessions of 1820 and 1835. The Orrenders seemed to have been closely associated with the McCarty families wherever they lived.

Lineage is Edward and Sarah ( ) of SC & MS

Land of the Little Angel, A History of Angelia County Texas. by Angelina Co. Hist. Comm.
Lifkin Printing Co., Lufkin, Texas

Orange B. McCarty, Sr.

Orange B. McCarty, Sr. was born in South Carolina in 1813 and later lived in Mississippi. He came to Angelina County in 1860 and purchased from Romanzo W. Montgomery 2214 acres of the original A. Solis League for $4,400. He then returned to Clark County, Miss., to make final arrangements to move his family to Burke in Angelina County.

The family included his wife, Mary Arrington, and six sons, Amos, Orange, Jr., Kendrick, Michael, Elias and Berry.

The dreams of the family to live in Texas were interrupted, however, when the Civil War began. Four of the sons went off to war. Kendrick and Michael died in battle and Orange, Jr. lost a leg. Elias served in the calvary and returned home safely.

After the war, the family began their move to Burke. Upon arrival in Angelina County, McCarty and his remaining sons constructed a large one-room log cabin with a fireplace of mud, sticks and moss. The home, now more than 100 years old, still stands today.

After finishing the home, the family cleared land and began to raise crops. The women canned the vegetables and once a year the family travelled by wagon to Crockett to buy supplies such as flour and coffee.

As time passed, some of the grandsons of Orange, Sr. worked in logging camps in the county. The children of the family attended school in Burke.

Many McCarty descendants still live in Angelina County. Mrs. Eugenia (McCarty) Kizer, daughter of Benjamin Kindred McCarty, the son of Elias, is still living and is the great-grandmother of Karen Faith Rector and Robert Christian Barger, making four living generations.

Orange B. McCarty died in 1897 and is buried in McCarty Cemetery, which is near his pioneer homeplace. His wife, who died in 1881, is also buried in the cemetery.

Daniel Bynum McCall

Daniel Bynum McCall came to Texas from Shututa, Mississippi in 1873. He stayed in Texas until 1875 when he returned to Mississippi. He married Laura Jane McCarty in 1876.

A few days later, a wagon train using both oxen and horses were formed by members of the McCarty, McCall and Arrington families and left for East Texas.

Daniel Bynum McCall's father and mother, Daniel and Miranda Satcher McCall, also came in this caravan.

McCall and his wife settled on a tract of land south of Lufkin. While the McCall family was living on this tract of land, Eva Wynona, Mattie Miranda, Eugene Berry, Ina Eret and Hugh Smiley McCall were born.

Daniel and Miranda McCall settled further south toward the town of Burke.

Daniel Bynum McCall and his family moved to Burke in about 1888 and he was the depot agent of the Houston East and West Texas Railroad. He continued in this job 40 years.

After his daughter, Eva, married, Arthur Lee Burke, he and Burke formed the merchandizing company of McCall and Burke.

Eva Wynona obtained a teaching certificate at summer normals and taught at Old Fairview and Burke school from about 1897 until she married in 1901.

Mattie Miranda taught school in various parts of East Texas and Louisiana 50 years. She taught at Burke and finished teaching at Lufkin.

Eugene Berry McCall was also a school teacher. He later went into the lumber business at Corrigan.

Ina Eret McCall worked in the general merchandise store, Burke and McCall, for 50 years and also served as post mistress.

Hugh Smiley McCall moved to Nacogdoches to work for the Southern Pacific Railroad. He moved to Shreveport in about 1910.

Mary Ezel McCall was a schoolteacher in Freeport.

Sarah Emma McCall married Carmen E. Brazil. She was also a school teacher before her marriage.

Charles Daniel McCall obtained his degree in dentistry and practiced in Diboll before moving to Port Arthur.

Annie Laurie McCall never married. She remained at home and was active in Methodist Church work.

Notes on the McCarty Family.

Family tradition says that Michael McCarty, the oldest known ancestor of this family, came from Ireland in the neighborhood of Cork. He will be referred to as Michael I. His son, Michael II, when applying for a Revolutionary War pension stated that he, Michael II, was born in South Carolina 16 February, 1754. Thus we get our first clue to the date by which Michael I had migrated to America. Michael I lived in the neighborhood of Edgefield, South Carolina and during the 1760's he was involved in several land transactions. We lose sight of him after the 1760's. Michael II had a son, Edward. (We will call him Edward I.) He was born in 1772. This Edward married Sarah Laramon--Larramore--Laramore, on 28 July 1790. In 1820, Edward I left Edgefield, South Carolina and went to Wayne County, Mississippi where he lived the remainder of his days. He and Sarah are buried in Hepsibah Cemetery. (These graves not found in Hepzibah Cemetery, in Clarke County, Mississippi, but graves of Edward II, son of Edward I, and wife are there, as well as numerous decendents of these. A. S. Hargrove).

It is said that Edward's entire family came with him from South Carolina. There might be some question about the entire family coming at that time. It is said that Edward made frequent trips back to South Carolina to visit his family. It is possible that some of them accompanied him on subsequent trips. It does seem certain that some time after 1820, his twelve children were in Mississippi. Family tradition states that on the way over there was "trouble" and some of the party remained on "the banks of the Warrior River in Alabama". It is not known what the "trouble" was. This remaining on the banks of the Warrior River is interesting in connection with the records of the United States Pension Bureau. Here it is recorded that Michael (Michael II, father of Edward) lived in Alabama in 1835 and was granted a Revolutionary War pension. His address was Elyton, Alabama; his pension was managed through the Tuscaloosa agency, and Michael said that he came from Edgefield, South Carolina in the autumn of 1827. He was living as late as 1843. Tuscaloosa is located on the Warrior River and these two reports from entirely different sources dovetail exactly.

There are conflicting reports as to names and birthdates of Edward I's children. What seems to be the most reliable source was found in the possession of Mr. Earl Welch (Welsh) West Enterprise, Mississippi. He is a direct descendant of Edward I and has a hymn book printed in London "M,DCC,XCII" 1792. In this hymn book, the twelve children are listed with birth dates. It seems most probable that this is correct and was recorded soon after the birth of the children. Indeed, the type of ink and pen seems to be different in some cases. This might reflect recordings as the children were born.

On the following page, the twelve children are listed in capital letters and given in order of birth. Their children follow the names of the parents and are numbered in arabic numerals. (do not have this)

Any person able to contribute data missing from the attached page is requested to write me.

Subject: [MISSISSIPPI-L] James Wm McCarty 1854

I am searching for the parents of JAMES WILLIAM McCARTY who was supposedly born in Mississippi on July 29, 1854. County is unknown. He died October 33, 1929 in Oklahoma. He was married to LOUISA A. CARLTON around 1871-1872. Children born to James and Louisa were:

Lucy (possibly named Maud also, married a BEATTY)
Jenny
Len
Bill (William A. possibly)
Mary Elizabeth (Lizzie) married Wm Andrew Turner
Emily
Etta
Ollie Mae

These are not necessarily in birth order. At least one, Mary Elizabeth, was born in Mississippi before they moved to Oklahoma. Most were born in Oklahoma

After Louisa died James married MELLIE COUCH, Sept. 18, 1927 in Oklahoma. They had a son, Hoover, who may still be alive.

This has been my brick wall, especially since I live out of the country and do not have access to census records. Any help would be greatly appreciated.

Merry CHRISTmas and Happy New Year to all.

The following was copied from Goodspeed's Memoirs of Mississippi. Volume I, page 1175.

"Edward McCarty, father of Michael McCarty of Shubuta, Clarke County, Mississippi, was born in the Edgefield District, South Carolina, in the latter part of the last century. He was married to Sarah Larrimore before the year 1800 in South Carolina, and came to Mississippi in the year 1820. He settled in Wayne County where he died. Michael, the fifth son in a family of twelve children, was born in Edgefield District in South Carolina, November 4, 1806, and came to Mississippi with his parents. His early educational opportunities were poor, but by dent of energy he has acquired a knowledge of business which has served him satisfactorily. He remained with his parents until he was twenty-two years old, when he began his life on his own account. In 1828 he was married to Miss Maria Hailes of Wayne County, Mississippi, a daughter of Judge Henry Hailes, Probate Judge of Clarke County for many years. He has three children, Cynthia, Miranda and Visa. The first and last survivor, Cynthia, is married to Burrill Rington (should be Arrington of Wayne County, Mississippi, and the later Visa, to Bretton Rogers. Mr. McCarty has been engaged in farming all his life. He owns about 700 acres of average land in Clarke County located two miles north of Shubuta. The soil is sandy and his chief crops are corn, oats, potatoes, etc. He plants some cotto but restricts himself to a few acres, farming on the intensive scale and using some fertilizer. He raises some stock and has some pine land. He is a member of the Baptist Church of 46 years standing. Mrs. McCarty, who died in May of 1890, was also a member of the Baptist Church. Mr. McCarty was a member of the Board of Supervisors for four years and a Justice of the Peace for many years. Favoring education, and other interests tending to develop the country, he is in every sense a useful citizen. Mr. McCarty has never had a case in court and only case in which he was concerned was settled by arbitration, and that in his favor. This speaks volumes for his honor and fairness which have ever characterized his commercial relation."

It is assumed that the foregoing was either dictated by Mr. McCarty or checked and approved by him. It seems to have been written soon after 1890.

Dear Jean,

Thank you for your letter and information on McCarty's from Clarke Co. MS. I think I'm getting more confused all the time on this Genealogy. These were on the Choctaw Rolls & Giles Co Tn. Census rolls and they had taken the American name "McCarty" & they were in Clarke Co. MS in 1855.

Now, James Washington Smith, son of supposedly Wm. A. & Mary Jane, supposedly was raised in part by a "Aunt Lou Moseley and a "Grandmother" ? Who ?

Family tradition says that James's father was killed in Civil War and his mother died when James was about 2 years of age

I noticed in papers you sent me there was Mosely .... Now you can see why I'm Confused.

I also found the marriage Certificate for Mary Jane and William A Smith, dated 15 March 1855 Clarke Co MS. daughter of Sampson Man-Chief McCarty John R. Eastman, probate Clerk and P.W. Papier or Rapier minister of the Gospel. Now the name may be Samson instead of Sampson - different Spelling

I also have enrollment Certificate for a Mary Jane Manchief McCarty, Choctaw Nation, Choctaw Roll I can't read residence too good, but it looks like Cavenaugh, Ark, and she would have been 63 years old, date of enrollment 13 June 1899. If that was the case and she was my Gr. Grandmother, then She didn't die when James was 2 years old.

I can't find a Cavenaugh Ark on the map

I've been interested in Genealogy since I was a Child & my mother never wanted me to get into it, she would get very angry whenever I asked any questions about anyone or anything, why, I don't know. My mother is 85 years old now and in a nursing home & she doesn't even know me. I was an only Child. My mother looks Indian. There is also Indian Blood on her mothers side, they were "Butlers" So between "Smith" and "Butler" I'm having quite a time with Genealogy

The "Butlers" were also from MS.

"Fisher", my maiden name were not Indian

They Came over from England circa 1879.
I have Cousins working on that name. thank Goodness. I have enough to do with "Smith" and "Butler"

If you or anyone you know Could possibly help me with this I would be extremly grateful and will pay a reasonable fee for Whatever anyone can Come up with and Copy fees.

Thank you so much

Sincerely
Katherin

PREFACE AND ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The writing and publication of this little history has been brought about chiefly by my desire to afford to the widely scattered members of my family an authentic account of the origin of our house, some facts of early ancestors, and to chronicle the present history of its members. An ancient and honorable name is a priceless heritage in shaping our own destinies.

Quite a bit of research has led me to present in these pages extracts from old records. I have found that our forefathers were active in political life even before they came to the New World. The part they played in the struggle for American Independence and the manner in which they served their country in war and peace mean so much to the family.

I have found more accessible the facts relating to my own branch of the family. For the information about the other branches I have had to rely on other members, census records, old Bibles, and research done by other branches. My fullest accounts in this book will deal primarily with Edward McCarty, son of Michael McCarty, who in 1790 married Sarah Laramore, and with their twelve children migrated from Edgefield District, South Carolina, to Wayne County, Mississippi, in the early 1820's.

I am deeply indebted to Mr. Thomas F. Richardson, who now lives at Taylors, South Carolina. He was a former president of the State Education Association of Connecticut where he served as school principal. Thus he had access to great libraries such as Yale to follow his hobby of genealogical research. He has furnished me with much information which has been invaluable in compiling this history. Mr. Richardson's interest in the McCarty history stems from the fact that he is a descendant of Edward I's daughter, Alouetha, who married Henry Arender. Henry is the son of Mary Arender Magee. Mr Richardson married Pearl Harlow, who taught at Mt. Holyoke School at Hartford, Connecticut. He and Pearl had three children; namely, Franklin, Elizabeth, and Harlow. Mr. Richardson's wife, Pearl, died in March, 1985, and is buried at Magee, Mississippi.

My parents and other members of McCarty families have contributed information which has been invaluable in compiling this little history.

Special thanks go to Joe Lee McCarty of Jackson, Mississippi, Mary Etta Jackman of Miami, Oklahoma, Dorothy Arnold of Dothan, Alabama, and James Sherwood Spivey of Washington, D. C. for researched charts used in the book. I am also indebted to Linda Thomas, teacher of English in Pensacola, Florida schools for valuable editorial assistance and encouragement.

Many other bits of information about the McCarty family came from old cemeteries, records from National Society Daughters of the American Revolution, and Library of Congress, Washington, D. C. The Lauren Rogers Library in Laurel, Mississippi, furnished much information on the early records of McCartys in Edgefield County, S. C., before they migrated to Mississippi.

It is regrettable that, due to time and space, I cannot name every person who has been helpful to me in compiling this material.

I hope that this history will be a record of the past that you and your children will enjoy for years to come. I hope, also, that your appreciation will be sharpened for our early ancestors who persevered over major obstacles to leave us our priceless heritage.

Bettie Louise McCarty

Note: It will be observed that many family links are incomplete due to the failure to get information from some branches of the family. It is suggested that those facts be added to individual copies of the book.

B.L.M.

The author, Miss Louise McCarty, was born and reared in Clarke County, Mississippi. She is the daughter of William and Beverly Evans McCarty.

After graduating from the University of Alabama she was a teacher as well as a supervisor in the field of Elementary Education throughout the state.

Since her retirement, she has lived in the peaceful old home place in the Harmony Community in Clarke County.

Chapter I

Early Facts of McCartys from Ireland to United States

The history of Edward McCarty of Edgefield District, South Carolina, son of Michael and Martha McCarty, and his descendants has its written accounts chiefly in war reports, land grants, county courthouses, and in Saunder's Early Records. Many of the facts have been enlarged as far as possible and supplied with traditions which were cherished by the first owners, to be handed down from father to son.

Some of this information carries us back beyond the New World to County Cork in Ireland. There are numerous spellings of our name: McCarthy, McCart, McCarter, McCartey, and others. No doubt the name has undergone changes in different books, old wills, and court and census records.

The McCarthy Family written by M.J. O'Brian and published by Dodd, Mead and Co. of New York says, "The McCartys, one of the ancient families of Ireland, have furnished princes, and men of eminence from McCarthy Mar down to Justin McCarthy." The founder of the family was Cormac, King of Munster, A.D. 483. (Burke declared that few pedigrees in the British Empire can be traced to a more exalted source than that of the Celtic House of McCarthy.)

Thirty of the kings of Ireland and sixty-one of the saints descended from the McCartys, and to them belong the matchless glory of producing the first Christian King in Ireland. Their possessions lay in Cork and in Kerry Counties. Of 160 castles in Cork County, twenty-six were erected by McCarthy Mar. Some names were Florence and Donough McCartie.

Sailing from Ireland on the Plain Joan in 1635 with Captain Page McCarty were Charles, age 27, and Owen McCartie, age 18. They settled in Virginia.

Denis McCarty (spelled McCartie in Virginia Land Books) is believed to have been the first in the colony of Virginia, says Hayden in the Virginia Genealogies. In September, 1675, he had a grant of 250 acres of land on the Eastern Shores, Lynn Haven, Lower Norfolk (Land Book VIII, p. 179) which he sold that year to Adam Keeling. In 1686 he was attorney for Mr. John Rice and died about 1700. There was also a 400 acre grant in 1691 in Princess Anne County. Reverend Horace Hayden says, "There was also a Denis McCarty of Princess Anne in 1693 who was old, poor, and lame." Bishop Meade wrote, (Vol. 11, p. 573) "It is an ancient Virginia family, springing from Denis and Daniel McCarty who were prominent in York, Richmond, Stafford, Westmoreland, and Fairfax Counties."

Daniel's children were Dennis, who married Sarah Ball; Daniel, who married Penelope Higgins; Billington, who married Ann Barber; and Thaddeus (b. 1712 d. 1732). Thaddeus was clerk of Lancaster and a vestry man of Christ Church.

James McCarty appears 1768 in a transaction with Joseph Valentine. Michael McCarty is also recorded in York Records of 1768. This is believed to be the Michael whose descendants will appear in this family history.

Denis, father of Daniel, married in 1668 to a daughter of Luke Billington of Rapp. His children were:

1. Daniel b. 1679 d. 1724 who married Mrs. Payne first, and then Ann Lee, widow of Col. William Fitzhugh of "Eagles Nest."

   Issue: (1) Denis, d. 1744 married 1724 to Sarah Ball
   (2) Daniel, d. 1744 married Penelope Higgins
   (3) Billington married 1732 to Ann Barber
   (4) Thaddeus b. 1712 d. 1732 - He was clerk of Lancaster
2. Florence, son of Captain Denis McCarty, the immigrant. His name of Florence places him as of the distinguished family of the South of Ireland.

It is not known just when the McCartys settled in Edgefield District, South Carolina. Bordering on Big Saluda and Persimmon Creek in Edgefield, other settlers were the Perrys, Colemans, Trotters, Berrys, Rileys along with the McCartys. In 1756 there were only two families in that part of the country, the Gowdys and the Edwards. After 1763 the population increased rapidly with settlers from England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Germany, Holland and France. Also, many came from northern states like Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, and North Carolina. "They were all a hardy, brave, industrious, and energetic set of men," says Mr. John A. Chapman in his HISTORY OF EDGEFIELD COUNTY.

Though Mr. Chapman does not mention first names, it is believed that our Michael was in the group who came from Virginia. Family records show that Michael and wife Martha lived in Edgefield District when he enlisted as a private in the Revolutionary War under Captain Butler. He was born February 16, 1754, probably the son of the Michael mentioned in York Records of 1768.

According to the United States Pension Bureau, Michael Jr., as we will call him was granted a Revolutionary War Pension No. S11049 beginning on March 5, 1835, for the sum of $68.33 per annum issued August 6, 1840, at Elyton, Alabama, in Jefferson County - the sixty-fifth year of American Independence. It continued until November 17, 1843, when he died. The Census of Pensions says, "Michael McCarty, aged 90, was buried in Jefferson County, Alabama."

COAT OF ARMS

Artist: R. P. Navaille
New Orleans, Louisiana

McCARTY

ARMS: Argent, a stag trippant gules, attired and unguled, or CREST: A dexter arm, couped below the elbow and erect, cloaked with mail, argent, the hand proper, holding a newt of the last.

Few pedigrees in the British empire, if any, can be traced to a more remote or a more exalted source than that of the Celtic house of McCarty; and, in making every allowance for the exaggeration of Celtic descents generally, it cannot be contested that, when reduced to fair and admissible limits, they, as comprising the very oldest deductible family records, command a prominent, perhaps the most prominent, place in European genealogy. The most ancient existing families of France, of Spain, of England, do not venture to pursue their line beyond the barbarian chiefs who conquered their countries, the Franks, the Visigaths and the Normans, from the sixth to the eleventh centuries. Few of the continental nobility will be found superior in origin, if parallel to the O'Brians, the O'Neils, the McCartys, the O'Conners of Ireland, whose progenitors were sovereign princes on the arrival of the English in 1172.

The McCartys trace their origin to Heber, the eldest son of Milesius, King of Spain through Oilioll Olium, King of Munster, in the third century; but the first who bore the appelation of McCarty, or son of Cartagh, was the grandfather of Diarmod McCarty More, whom the English found in possession of Cork.

This surname is well known in America and particularly in the Southern states, whose representatives derive ancestry from the early settlers of the name in Virginia.

The silver shield of the McCarty arms is compared to the moon, the pearl and the lily is symbolic of purity and truth.

Red, the military color, symbolizes daring, blood and fire. It denotes the desire to protect and defend ones King and country, even at the cost of one's own blood.

The stag is the best of the chase. The newt is a small water animal of the byard species.

MOTTO: Forti Et Fideli, Nihil Difficile

To the brave and faithful, nothing is difficult.

Chapter II

Michael and Edward of Edgefield

Michael McCarty II, presumed to be the son of Michael I of Cork, Ireland, was born February 16, 1754. He and wife, Martha, had several children, some of whom were as follows: Edward (born 11 February 1772), Adam, Eleanor, William, John, Dennis, Phillip, and Michael III.

In the neighborhood where old Michael and young Michael dwelt, there lived a family of Laramore - Lareymore - Larramore, etc. It seems they spelled their names many different ways. This family had come from the Pee Dee River section and lived as a neighbor to the McCartys in Edgefield County, S. C. In files of Edgefield County, there is a will dated March 27, 1785, as follows:

"My daughter, Sarah Laramore, is to have a cow when she marries."

"My daughter, Hester Laramor, is to have a cow when she marries."

"My youngest son, Daniel Laramor, is to have my lambs, my negroes, and all of my property."

This is witnessed by William McCarty, James McCarty, and John Messer, a neighbor of the McCartys.

Here we have located the Sarah Laremon or Laramore who married Edward McCarty, eldest son of Michael II. The Laramores owned much land and took an active part in community affairs. John served as a delegate from Rocky Creek Baptist Church to the State Annual Association of South Carolina.

Edward, born February 11, 1772, married Sarah Laramore (born 22 September 1772) at Edgefield, S.C., on 28 July 1790.

Edward and Sarah had a Hymn Book printed in London, M,DCC,XC11 (1792) in which the twelve children and dates of birth were listed as follows:

1. Alford or Auford born 22 April 1791.
2. Amos McCarty born 14 December 1792.
3. Eunicy McCarty born 14 September 1794.
4. Arnas or Annas McCarty born 6 September 1796.
5. Edward McCarty born 6 September 1798.
6. Alauthea McCarty born 19 July 1800.
7. Bryant or Briant McCarty born 1 November 1803.
8. Michael McCarty born 4 November 1806.
9. Sarah McCarty born 4 December 1808.
10. Kindred McCarty born 1 April 1811.
11. Orring or Orange McCarty born 23 May 1813.
12. Simpson McCarty born 11 April 1816.

Edward I owned a 550 - acre tract of land lying between Mine Creek and Dry Creek near Saluda in Edgefield District, South Carolina. In 1821, he deeded this land to William Rayford, and in 1822 Edward and his family left by covered wagon for Mississippi. According to census records of 1820, an Alfred McCarty was living in Mississippi as early as 1818. This could be Edward's son who came first and others followed.

After an arduous trek Edward McCarty settled along Eucutta Creek in Wayne County, Mississippi.

Charts of the 12 children and their heirs are given on the following pages. There are also true stories about many of the descendants of Edward and Sarah Laramore McCarty.

Notes on Aunt Laura and Uncle Dan's family:

The highlights of every summer as long as my grandmother Martha lived, was the visit to Mississippi of Aunt Laura and some of her family, from Burke, Texas. They had gone there soon after Aunt Laura married Uncle Dan McCall, a telegraph operator. What a trek that must have been in a covered wagon over rough roads and swift streams! Every summer some of the McCalls from Texas would come by train from Texas to Vossburg, Miss. to see Grandmother McCarty and other relatives.

Aunt Sallie would send the wagon driven by Dave, the colored man, to bring the visitors and trunks to her house, seven miles away. They would stay as long as six weeks and visit all the McCarty relatives while in Mississippi. Sometimes she would bring us cloth for dresses or other things that we cherished highly. Sometimes Uncle Dan would come along with their daughters whom we thought, were so pretty.

The descendents of Aunt Laura and Uncle Dan are now rather scattered over Texas, but many chose to stay near the old home place near Lufkin. A granddaughter, Sarah Jane, married Dr. W.D. Thames; grandsons, Dan and Ward Burke are lawyers; Nona is the wife of a surgeon, to mention only a few now living in Lufkin, Texas. Others are in successful businesses in Shreveport; one became a dentist in Port Arthur, Texas.

Notes on Edward McCarty's Family better known as "Uncle Buddy"

Edward was the third child of Berry and Martha McCarty. He was affectionately called Buddy by members of the family and others.

He married a tiny lady named Nan Thomas. Three children came from that union, namely, Emma, Winnie, and Berry. They lived near Heidelberg, Mississippi.

Emma married John McClellan of Heidelberg and they had four children, namely, Verdue,and Tyman, both of whom never married, and Myrtle, who married H.P. Jackson. They lived at Laurel. We loved to visit them. Emma Lou, the baby, married Tyman McMurphy.

Winnie also lived in Heidelberg, but the one I was closest to was Berry, who married Margaret Trainor of Burlington, N.J. during WWI. They would visit in Heidelberg every year and were lavishly entertained by the family. I visited them in Burlington and had the time of my life.

Winnie's daughter lives near Uncle Buddy's beautiful old place. It was a favorite spot for our family reunion in 1980 with its spacious and beautiful lawn covered with bright flowers and ornaments.

NOTES ON THE WILLIAM ALLAN McCARTY FAMILY

My father, "Mr. Will" as he was affectionately called, was born at Beaverdam, a community near Shubuta. After he married Miss Beverly Evans of Harmony Community, he continued to live there until 1900 when he bought the Quinelly place in the Harmony Community. He was a successful farmer. He raised corn, hogs, sugar cane, etc. but his specialty was cotton. He loved to plant it, watch it grow, and harvest it in the fall.

Our house, with the ten children of Miss Beverly and Mr. Will, was a gathering place for neighborhood boys and girls as well as the homes of Dabbs, Kennedys, Hardees, other McCartys (Bogue), Daniels, Reds, McLeods, Evans, and others.

We attended Clarke County Agricultural High School which was established near our house in 1916--one year after Alfred left home. The eight remaining children graduated before the school was closed in 1932.

The oldest son, Alfred, went to Wichita Falls, Texas, followed by Alex, Charlie and Isaac ("Ike") - all followed the wholesale tobacco business. The girls, Katie Lee and Louise, were teachers in Mississippi schools; whereas, Mary and Ruth married and live in Hattiesburg. Sarah became an executive secretary for a large utility company in New Orleans.

The home place continued to prosper as long as Papa could keep labor. Every few years he would renew the oil lease, sell timber, and do other things. He died in 1958 at the ripe old age of ninety-four, and Mama died in 1963.

Ten years later Shell Oil Company drilled a well on our place and struck a great stream of oil from Smackover Sand. How exciting it was as it was the first well of what was later to become the East Pachuta Creek Field! Later three more wells came in and the big "lower field" as we had known it for years, became the East Pachuta Creek Battery - covered with tanks, offices, equipment, and a center of many kinds of activity. It is now called the "McCarty Battery." However, the oil extends many miles through the Harmony Community. It has meant so much to so many people who, because of it, are living a much more abundant life than formerly. My only regret is the fact that my dear mother and father did not live to enjoy the "windfall."

NOTES ON JERRY HORN McCARTY FAMILY

When Jerry McCarty was born some Indians who lived near came in to see the new baby who was an unusually large one. Indians grunted "Bogue" which meant "big." Thus the name "Bogue" followed him all of his 90 years. "Uncle Bogue" was a man of small stature with twinkling blue eyes that reeked with wit and humor. He raised cotton, corn, potatoes, sugar cane and always had a good garden. Since he and my father, Will, were near the same age he would walk to our house nearly every day to sit on the lawn and talk for hours.

"Uncle Bogue's" sayings are still popular years after his death as he had worlds of friends. His wife's name was Minnie. She was a grand cook and we could always count on good eats when we went to Uncle Bogue's house.

Two of his daughters still live at the home place. Jack, the eldest son, lived at Souinlovie. His three sons are graduates of Mississippi State University. Dr. J.C. is an agronomist and a teacher while Robert and Horace work with the state. Jane, a daughter, teaches at Gulfport.

NOTES ON SALLIE McCARTY THOMAS FAMILY

"Aunt Sallie", as we affectionately call her, lived in Beaverdam. She had a big house and yard where we children loved to go to have fun playing in gullies and visiting relatives nearby.

She had a huge peach orchard, and Mama would go every summer and can peaches. There would be quite an argument as to which of us children would accompany her and get a jar of Aunt Sallie's famous pickled peaches. We enjoyed playing in the gullies with Buddy, Willie, Olga Mae, and Kate.

My grandmother, Mrs. Martha Horn McCarty, lived with Aunt Sallie. She would tell interesting stories of her pre-Civil War girlhood which would hold us spellbound. She attended a Female Academy in Sumpter County, Alabama, and was well-informed in philosophy and astronomy. While watching the stars one night she fell and broke her hip, an injury which confined her until she died.

Aunt Sallie's youngest son, Gird and family, moved into the homeplace with her. After Gird's death his wife, Cornelia Ellis Thomas still occupies the peaceful old home. Her sons James and Donald live near. A daughter of Aunt Sallie, Kate, lived in Heidelberg nearby until her death February of 1983. Her lovely old home was nestled amidst a huge oak grove and was a center of family gatherings until her health failed. Later, a niece, Mrs. Katherine Weber, lived there with her family for a while. Another niece, Martha, established five schools for children with learning disabilities in Jackson where she and Lynn both work. Sarah, another niece, lives in California with her husband and two children.

NOTES ON THE GIRD AND VIRDUE McCARTY FAMILY

Uncle Gird died before I had a chance to know him. However, his wife, Mrs. Virdue Burnham McCarty and her two sons, Donald and G.A. who lived in Magee, MS would visit us every summer. Aunt Virdue was a tall, pretty brown-eyed lady, a devout Christian, and wore pretty clothes. Both of her sons became dentists. Donald practiced in Laurel, MS, and we looked forward to his and his wife Emily's visits. He was always full of fun. G.A., his brother, has an office in Jackson, MS where he has practiced dentistry since 1929. He and his second wife Marion lived in a lovely home on Hanging Moss Road where he still resides after Marion's death in Jackson on April 5, 1984.

NOTES ON MARTHA AND JOHN SMILEY FAMILY

After Uncle John and Aunt Martha died, two sons, whom we called Cat and Pat, continued to live at the homeplace. They kept the house spotlessly clean, were grand cooks, and had a lot of cats. Every summer we would visit them, eat watermelon that was cooled in a spring under the hill, enjoy good meals at the long table and play in woods nearby. How we hated to see the place sold after Cat and Pat died!

DEATHS

Mrs Jane McCarty consort of E. McCarty departed this life November 19th 1870, after a long and painful type of illness. Her fine spirit sought that divine abode which [illegible] finds no [illegible]; but where with His sainted children, sorrow and suffering will be felt, and feared no more!!

Calm on the bosom of thy God,
Dear Mama! rest thee now!
Even while with us thy footsteps trod
His seal was on thy brow!

Dust to its narrow house beneath!
Soul, to its place on high!
They that have seen thy look in death
No more may fear to die!

By her sorrowful daughter
Sallie McCarty

November 25th, 1870.

Sarah (Sallie) McCarty, youngest child of Edward and Jane Smith McCarty, wrote the above poem after her mother's death.

This beautiful tribute to her mother was found between the pages of one of her books. It is reprinted here in her own handwriting.

THE ARENDER FAMILY*

The Arender family in the United States

We will first take up the spelling of this name. It appears that the current generation of Smith County Arenders never knew of any spelling except the one commonly used, "Arender." But in the census file of 1880, it appears as "Orinder." Then at other times it appears in various places in all the forms given in the footnote below.

The first occurence of what seems to be this name is in the Virginia census of 1782 where Henry Orendore appears on Fairfax County rolls. There were three white people in the family. No other details were recorded. A thorough search of the tax files of Fairfax County afforded no clue to this man. Evidently he was not a land owner and disappeared from this vicinity very soon after the census was taken. No record was found of him in 1800. It should be remembered, however, that only one-half of the records of Virginia for 1790 are available and none of the 1800 list. In 1810, one Henry Orinder shows up in Amherst County, Virginia.

In the 1830 census of Hardin County, Kentucky, there is listed one Matthew Orender between 70 and 80 years old. He was there as late as 1834 and possessed some livestock but no land. In the 1840 Kentucky census record for Larue County, there is listed a Sarah Orinder. Hardin County, Kentucky was divided between the years 1830 and 1840, and Larue County was formed.

*Other spellings of this name are: Orinder, Orander, Orener, Orendar, Orendir, Orendore, Ornander.

In all probability this Sarah is the widow of the previously named Matthew of 1830. In the marriage records of Pittsylvania County, Virginia, there is a marriage recorded between Matthew Orinder and Sarah Brown. It is probable that this Matthew and Sarah in Kentucky are the ones married in Virginia in May, 1799. It appears then, that we have two adult families living in Virginia bearing a form of the name Arender. This name is so rare that it is highly probable that these two men, Matthew and Henry, are brothers, or at least related.

If we had the 1800 records for Virginia, undoubtedly much valuable information could be found. One is inclined to conclude that this Virginia family was the only one in the United States at that time and that afterwards all mention of the name can be traced back to these Virginia couples.

In Pittsylvania County, Virginia, there is on file a deed dated 25 October 1795 made by Mathias Orender and his wife, Mary Orander. Note that the name is spelled differently for husband and wife. Neither could read or write and the spelling was evidently that of the clerk. The Matthew previously mentioned as being married in 1799 was over 35 years old at the time, and it is very probable that the Mathias making the deed is the same one as the one married in 1799. This deed was made with his first wife. In 1813 Nancy Orrender's marriage is recorded in Pittsylvania County, Virginia. In 1815 the marriage of Elizabeth is recorded in the same county. These could well have been the children of Mathias and Mary. After 1800 the name becomes fairly common in Kentucky and Virginia, but the only ones found as adults prior to 1800 were those mentioned. In the year 1810, Henry Ornander is recorded in Currituck County, North Carolina. This county borders on Virginia. This record is of interest because Sampson Arender said his father was born in North Carolina. It is probable that this is the same man as the Henry Orendore listed in Virginia in 1782. No definite connection between the Henry Arender later living in Smith County has been proved, but circumstantial evidence would indicate that our Henry was the son of the Henry Ornander mentioned in 1810.

Our Henry Arender arrived in Edgefield, South Carolina, sometime prior to 1819. He married Alouthea McCarty and a child was born in 1819. It is possible that they had children even older than the one born in 1819. It seems certain this Henry Arender was with Edward McCarty's family when they made the trip to Mississippi in 1821 from Edgefield County, South Carolina.

The Arender family in Mississippi

No mention of any Arender family was found in Mississippi except that of our relative, Henry. In the Rankin County census of 1830, the first mention is found of Henry "Orinder." (page 913.) At that time he said he was between 30 and 40 years old. He was residing in Rankin County in 1831, 1834, and 1837. It is known that he had a son, Tillman, born in 1834 presumably in Rankin County. No record of him was found in 1840. Rankin, Smith, Scott, Clarke, and Jasper Counties were all searched, but no trace was found.

On 3 November 1835 Henry "Orinder" sold to Robert Steen for $50.00 the following land: S½ of E½ of SE¼ Section 13 Township 5 Range 3 East. This contained "40 acres more or less." He signed with "his mark." This land lies about two miles east of Brandon, Mississippi, and about ½ mile south of U.S. highway #80. It is near the road used prior to the building of present U.S. #80.

According to the McCarty family members living as late as 1925, this Henry Orinder was an erratic person. He disappeared at some date around thd 1840's. Nothing more was known of him. Although the census files would indicate there might have been four girls and two boys in the family, tradition mentions only three daughters. It could well be that the fourth child was not a daughter of Henry and Alouthea.

We have definite trace of a daughter, Matilda, who was born in South Carolina in 1819. She stated in 1860 that she was 41 years old and that she was born in South Carolina. She married Zebedee Mason and will be found in the Scott County census record for 1860, name #284. Later in 1870 there was a son, Zebedee, listed as 5 years old. This family grew-up in Jasper and Jones counties and could undoubtedly be traced there.

The descendants of Alouthea McCarty and Hanry Arender are as follows insofar as it has been possible to compile the record. First their children and grandchildren are listed and then their more remote descendants follow.

A NOSTALGIC VISIT

This was written by Mr. Thomas F. Richardson who was a great great grandson of Edward McCarty, whose great great Grandmother was Alouetha McCarty, Daughter of Edward I. An account of his visit to the old homeplace follows:

In 1822 Edward McCarty sold to William Raiford, 550 acres of land lying between Mine Creek and Dry Creek. His deed was dated 21 November 1821. His land reached beyond Dry Creek on the east and Mine Creek on the west. It is assumed this is all the land he owned and he was selling in order to leave for Wayne County, Mississippi. Since no other land transactions are recorded for that date it is assumed he lived on this area.

On roads as numbered in 1963 this place can be reached by taking Route U.S. 178 running generally southeast from Saluda. About 0.6 miles from Saluda take S.C. Route 39 turning to the right from U.S. 178 and running more southward than 178. Follow S.C. 39 about 3 miles from 178 and a settlement road 258 turns right approximately west. In about a mile this 258 turns into an unimproved dirt road hardly passable in dry weather and hazardous in wet weather. About 1½ miles from S.C. 39 and still on 258 one crosses "Dry Creek." This creek is appropriately named in dry weather as it was when I first saw it 3 November 1963, but it was definitely a misnomer when I again saw it 26 December 1963. Apparently Edward McCarty owned the land where this 258 crosses Dry Creek. Continuing on 258 one goes up a gentle incline leading to higher ground. The cleared land comes down to the banks of Dry Creek. Continuing westward from Dry Creek and still on 258 one comes to an old house place located about halfway between Dry Creek and Mine Creek lying still westward about a quarter of a mile. At the old house site Route 258 makes a 90 degree turn to the left and runs southward to Route S.C. 29. In all probability this house site at the bend of the road was the home of Edward McCarty in 1822.

Should all the roads indicated above be changed or discontinued one could still locate this place as follows: 33° 56' 25" N. Lat. and 86° 39' 50" W. Long. These numberings were obtained from a road map of Saluda County in 1963. Another way to locate this site is to draw a line from Saluda 15° east of south and 3½ miles from Saluda the line will cross McCarty land.

On 3 November 1963 I first visited this place. My brother Luke and my wife Pearl were with me. We reached the old house site just at noon. We had a picnic lunch with us and put it out on what appeared to be the front yard of Edward's old house site. We had a great time speculating on what life must have been like there in 1822.

It appeared the place had been occupied within the present generation. The house had been torn down, but the chimney sites were still marked by a pile of dirt. If the chimneys were brick they had been removed. All we saw was a pile of clay dirt. It is possible that the brick was soft clay and had melted. The two chimney sites were 42 feet apart which indicated a relatively large house. Since it had been 141 years since Edward's life it is possible that the old house which had most recently stood there was built after Edward's.

Remains of yard shrubbery showed a fair growth of crape myrtle, wisteria, and other fairly common yard shrubbery. An old weather beaten chinaberry tree stood nearby. It is rather improbable that it had been there for more than 141 years. But there stood an old gnarled cedar tree which looked as if it had seen all the storms of the past 141 years. It was about 18 inches in diameter and nearly 50 feet high. More than one-half of the branches were dead, but some still had green on them. We looked long at the old tree and speculated much on its life history.

The cleared land sloped gently to the east towards Dry Creek, to the West towards Mine Creek, to the north towardsthe junction of Dry and Mine Creeks. However, the land owned by Edward did not extend to the junction. There must have been as much as 100 acres of cleared land adjacent to the house place. The surrounding woods indicated that this land had once been fields, too.

The place was quiet. A buzzard soared lazily overhead in the gentle breeze. Some crows cawed from the adjacent woods, A hawk flew across the old field only a few feet from the ground. Crickets chirped from their hiding place. A woodpecker hammered away on a tree nearby. A lizard scampered from his sunning place and a hop toad jumped around as if looking for winter quarters.

I was back on this site 26 December 1963. Most of nature was dormant; animal life did not appear. It was a cool clear day. The sun went down over west of Mine Creek and the sky was a brilliant gold. This was a sight Edward McCarty and his daughter, Alouthea, must have seen from this same place, many times, long ago.

No doubt there are other places in South Carolina and elsewhere which had once been inhabited but are now deserted. I do not think in all of South Carolina I could find a place where I could so well imagine the past. No doubt near this front yard one day back in 1822 a dozen or more ox wagons appeared loaded with then necessities of life for a 700 mile trip across the woods and crude roads. In one of these wagons would be seated Alouthea, my great great grandmother. Edward probably stood by the side with a muzzle loading rifle ready to meet the hazards of the long trip. In the wagons with their mother, Alfred, and Sarah, Amos, Edward II, and nine others and their wives. It did not seem realistic that on the next day after I was there 3 November 1963, I would drive the entire 700 miles in one day without incident.

In another wagon would be Edward McCarty II and wife, Jane Smith, and their children.

The Alouthea McCarty referred to above married Henry Arender and their descendants will be interested to know that the place is five miles west of the old Arender home.

Attached is a map showing the land Edward McCarty sold in 1822 before leaving for Mississippi.

Child of Edward and Sarah Laramore McCarty:

VIII. Michael III, born in South Carolina 1 April 1811, married Mariah Hailes of Clarke County, MS., in 1828.

The following was copied from Goodspeed's Memoirs of Mississippi, Volume I, Page 1175.

"Edward McCarty, father of Michael McCarty of Shubuta, Clarke County, Mississippi, was born in the Edgefield District South Carolina in the latter part of the last century. He was married to Sarah Larrimore before the year 1800 in South Carolina and came to Mississippi in the year 1820. He settled in Wayne County where he died. Michael, the fifth son in a family of twelve children, was born in Edgefield District in South Carolina 4 November 1806 and came to Mississippi with his parents. His early educational opportunities were poor, but by dent of energy he acquired a knowledge of business which served him satisfactorily. He remained with his parents until he was twenty-two years old, when he began his life on his own account. In 1828 he was married to Miss Maria Hailes of Wayne County, Mississippi, a daughter of Judge Henry Hailes, Probate Judge of Clarke County, for many years. He has three children, Cynthia, Miranda, and Visa. The first and last survive. Cynthia is married to Burrill Arrington of Wayne County, Mississippi, and the latter, Visa, to Bretton Rogers. Mr. McCarty has been engaged in farming all his life. He owns about 700 acres of average land in Clarke County located two miles north of Shubuta. The soil is sandy and his chief crops are corn, oats, potatoes, etc. He plants some cotton but restricts himself to a few acres, farming on the intensive scale and using some fertilizer. He raises some stock and has some pine land. He is a member of the Baptist Church of 46 years standing. Mrs. McCarty, who died in May of 1890 was also a member of the Baptist Church. Mr. McCarty was a member of the Board of Supervisors for four years and a justice of the peace for many years. Favoring education, and other interests tending to develop the country, he is in every sense a useful citizen. Mr. McCarty has never had a case in court and the only case in which he was concerned was ever settled by arbitration, and that in his favor. This speaks volumes for his honor and fairness which have ever characterized his commercial relation."

It is assumed that the foregoing was either dictated by Mr. McCarty or checked and approved by him. It seems to have been written soon after 1890.

LETTER TO LOUISE McCARTY FROM JAMES SHERWOOD SPIVEY, A DESCENDANT OF ORANGE McCARTY

There are two McCartys on the attached genealogical report that were very close, very dear, and very important to me.

The first was Sarah Rosetta McCarty Henington. She was my grandmother (my mother's mother).

Christine and I and Marshall were all born in her house in Burke, Texas. We all called her Mama and went to her home for Sunday dinner every Sunday after church for many years. Her home was as much home to me as my own.

She told me many stories about her early life - They crossed the Mississippi on barges in 1865. (She always said she was six years old.) She was especially proud of her father who had lost a leg at the battle of Peach Tree Creek - she often told me of riding with him in the woods and how well he knew every inch of the Neches River - (They kept their cattle and hogs along the river - at least they used that as range for their cattle and hogs.)

Her husband died when she was quite young and she raised her two daughters and sent Mother to college - she was very small and an excellent business woman. She never signed any document until she had time to study it thoroughly and think about it.

Physically and mentally she was very strong - I never remember her having any serious illness and she lived to 90 and was killed in a freak accident then - one of the McCall sisters was visiting her and a grass fire was started behind her property - when they saw the fire coming toward the house they ran out the front door and were trying to reach a road about a block in front of her house. The fire overtook her and she apparently had a fatal heart attack (there was a school adjoining her property and only a few feet away)

The other McCarty that meant a great deal to me was Alonzo (Mack) McCarty (a son of Berry McCarty) I never knew his name was Alonzo as we always called him Mack. He was a cousin of Mama's and lived in a side room of her house most of the time from the time I was born until his death in 1933 - He was about 61-62 years old then, I believe.

I had always heard that his wife and two children died from some kind of fever. He took care of Mama's cattle and hogs and looked after the farms (in a way). He also owned a farm near Burke that he rented - or share cropped.

He was a great influence on me and also on my cousin Jack Tucker. In fact, when I was 4-5 years old they would ask me who I loved the most Mack or my daddy and I'd always say Mack. We rode horses in the woods with him to see about the cattle and you could hear the three of us in the process of driving the cattle hollering and cussing over those woods. We went with him for several years and occasionally he would suggest we take along our fish hooks and do some fishing. He always caught plenty for lunch - he died of pneumonia in 1933. All the McCarty's around Burke knew Mack and I never heard him say an unkind word about anyone. He told me about living on the range in West Texas in the 1880's and he was an expert at handling the wildest cattle.

I knew most of the McCarty's around Burke and the McCall's and the Burkes. Ward and James Burke were about my same age. I have very fond memories of all these people - they were all good, friendly, solid citizens.

Ana Ujeania, better known as "Miss Annie" McCarty, was the third child of Amos and Elizabeth McNeill McCarty. She lived in the old McCarty home in Shubuta, Mississippi, had a millinery shop and was one of the main stays of the McCarty family. She never married and from time to time her brother, John, and his family and brother, George and his wife all lived together. Also, at times Hyman, Sr. and family stayed with Miss Annie.

After the deaths of Hyman, Sr.'s first and second wives, Miss Annie and her sister-in-law, Olivia Mae Gordon McCarty, George's wife, legally adopted in 1928 the two children of Hyman Sr. and Juanita Anderson McCarty. They reared Hyman Folkes McCarty, Jr. and Lillian Juanita McCarty (Peggy). Miss Annie died at the age of 72 in the fall following Hyman Jr.'s graduation from University of Mississippi and while he was in service during World War II.

Dear Mrs. Moreno:

I have just recently purchased a copy of Volume 7, 1978, MISSISSIPPI GENEALOGY AND LOCAL HISTORY, in which you were seeking information on the McCARTY family from 1820 in Wayne, Jasper, and Clarke Cos., Mississippi.

Along with several other family names, I am in the process of searching the McCARTY family history. My great grandmother, on my mother's side, was Almarine McCarty Bodie. I do not know exacely yet, but I believe they were married in the early 1870's, either in Georgia or Mississippi. I do know that both of them were on the 1870 census for Wayne County, Mississippi.

Almarine's husband, (and my great grandfather) John Mark Bodie, had three children by a previous marriage. Almarine McCarty had also been married before. She married a Mr. Watts and they had at least one son, Berry Watts.

Almarine's father and mother were Simpson McCarty Mahala (Red) McCarty. They were listed on the 1870 census for Wayne County, Mississippi. Simpson was listed at age 55, with occupation as "Farmer", with value of real estate at $1,000.00, value of personal estate at $200.00, and was listed as having been born in South Carolina. Almarine was listed as the next family after Simpson and Mahala McCarty on this 1870 census. She was listed by the name of her first husband "Watts", along with her son, Berry Watts.

According to information that I have received from an aunt in Shubuta, Miss., Simpson and Mahala had seven children altogether. They were: (1) Banie, (2) Almarine, (3) Vincent, (4) Eunice, (5) Alice, (6) Sallie, and (7) Beadie. I do not know, at this point in my search, the order of their birth, nor do I know anything about their families, other than Almarine.

Simpson's father and mother were Edward McCarty and Sara (Laramore) McCarty. Information that has been passed down to me by my mother and her family is that Edward's father came to the United States from Ireland. I have looked on several ships' passenger lists and have not, as of this date, found him listed. He was born about 1795 and died about 1881.

Children of Edward and Sarah Laramore McCarty (in addition to Simpson) were: (1) Michael, (2) Auford, (3) Amos, (4) Eunice, (5) Ounice, (6) Edward, (7) Aloetha, (8) Bryant, (9) Michael, (10) Sarah, (11) Kendrick, and (12) Orange.

Again, I do not know anything about these family members. You may have already seen it, but the 1880 census for Wayne County, MS., lists my great great grandfather, Simpson McCarty, at age 63. That would have placed his year of birth at about 1816.

The above mentioned volume of the MISSISSIPPI GENEALOGY AND LOCAL HISTORY lists a Bryant McCarty as a Scott County Slave Owner in 1860. I believe this was Simpson's brother Bryant. (True)

I have just recently found some information that leads me to believe that the McCarty family, of which I am a descendent, came from South Carolina to Mississippi by way of Georgia, with many of them staying in Georgia. In the book THE GEORGIA LAND LOTTERY PAPERS, 1805-1914, compiled by Robert S. Davis, Jr., & Rev. Silas Emmett Lucas, Jr., there is recorded, on page 3, an affidavit signed by one SAMPSON McCARTY AND GREEN B. RED appointing a Mr. Alfred M. Horton to take out land grants for them in Richmond County, Georgia. According to other affidavits this one appears to have been signed about 1843. Since SIMPSON McCARTY married MAHALA RED, this could very well be the same two families. The GREEN B. RED could have been a brother or even the father of Mahala.

The SAMPSON McCARTY mentioned in the above affadavit could have been the son of Simpson McCarty's brother, Michael. On page 13 of the above referenced book there is an affidavit signed by SAMPSON McCARTY testifying to the fact that he was one of three orphans of MICHAEL J. McCARTY formerly of Jefferson County, GA., but now of Richmond County, GA. This affidavit was signed on June 10, 1843.

There are several other affidavits signed McCarty family members but these are the only two with any similarities to my McCarty family line. It is also interesting to note on the 1850 CENSUS INDEX FOR GEORGIA that there was one O.G. McCarty living in Walton County, GA. This could have been Simpson's brother Orange McCarty. However, I realize that all the above could have been members of an entirely different McCarty family. Nevertheless there are enough similarities in the names that I plan to do further research on the "Georgia" McCartys.

I also realize that I am writing this letter about two years after your inquiry appeared in the MISSISSIPPI GENEALOGY AND LOCAL HISTORY. However, it may be that some of the names or information listed above will help in your search. I am planning to continue my search of the McCartys and would appreciate hearing from you as to whether we are searching the same family.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Dorothy (Dot) Arnold

A TRUE STORY AS TOLD BY THE McCARTY BOYS

God Answers Farmers' Prayers

During a long dry spell in Clarke County, Mississippi crops were burning to a crisp. Several farmers met at Mrs. Parker's house to pray for rain.

Among the group was Mr. Miller, who had a grist mill. It was run by a wheel which was turned by water flowing over a dam.

Mr. Parker knelt by his chair and began the prayers. He prayed, "Oh Lord, we need a big rain! Please send us a gully washer, a goose-strangler, and a chunk-mover!" Others prayed for about the same thing.

Then Mr. Miller, remembering his mill prayed thus, "No Lord, we do not need that kind of rain at all. Please send us a little sizzle-sozzle, drizzle-drozzle all day and all night followed by two or three cloudy days!"

After, these earnest prayers the farmers' faith was strengthened. The Lord answered each prayer with a rain between the two extremes.

Thank the Lord the fields were green again!

McCarty's 'friendship flowed like a river'

By GARY HOLLAND
THE SUN HERALD

PASCAGOULA — Jolly P. McCarty was remembered at a memorial service Sunday for his unmatched legacy of community service, particularly for his great friendship to the lowly as well as those in high places.

Services were held at First Baptist Church for McCarty, 69, senior vice president of marketing and industrial development at Merchants & Marine Bank. He lost a battle with cancer and died Thursday under hospice care at his home in Gautier.

The Rev. Rex Yancey, pastor of First Baptist, remembered McCarty's magnetic smile and optimism. "I have never been around a more positive person in my life," Yancey said. "I have never seen such a leader, not in the church, not in the community, not in charities.

"I got to tell him last week that I loved him and that I have never had a better friend in my life. I can't remember how many people I have met who referred to Jolly as their best friend."

"God has a purpose for each of us. We all have something meaningful to do," Yancey said. "God wants us to leave this world a better place than what we found. This world is a better place because Jolly McCarty was here."

Jerry St. Pé, former president of Northrop Grumman Ingalls, compared McCarty to a refrain from a popular Randy Travis' hit: "It's not what you take when you leave this world behind you. . . . It's what you leave behind you when you're gone."

"No one has left more good behind than Jolly McCarty, more enduring good," said St. Pé, who delivered the eulogy.

McCarty

He told of a weekend phone call from a man who turned to McCarty for help 30 years ago. "He had a terminally ill son and needed a job. He got it," St. Pé said, "just one of thousands of the lives Jolly touched."

The Rev. Dennis Ray Smith, associate pastor of First Baptist, said McCarty personified Paul in the New Testament who wrote: "I have fought the good fight. I have finished my course. I have kept the faith."

"My friend, Jolly McCarty, kept those things. He exemplified those things," Smith said. "I thank him so much for being a role model for me and I thank his family for sharing him with us in this church and community."

"Friendship flowed like a river from Jolly McCarty," said the Rev. Bill Barton, founder of the Home of Grace, a rehabilitation home. "He not only made you feel good. He made you feel important."

Barton said he read the book "How to Win Friends and Influence People" and thought of McCarty. "He could have written that book," he said. "Winning friends was just a natural for Jolly."

Sheriff Mike Byrd sang "Amazing Grace," and Gary Anglin, First Baptist minister of music, sang "Surely the Presence."

Burial was in Machpelah Cemetery.

McCarty is survived by his his wife, Evelyn; two sons, Lance and Landon; a daughter, Jennifer Garlich; and four grandsons.

PASCAGOULA — "It's going to be hard to envision Jackson County without Jolly McCarty."

That's what Jerry St. Pé said as he delivered the eulogy at McCarty's funeral service attended by hundreds Sunday at McCarty's home church, First Baptist Church in Pascagoula.

McCarty died Aug. 28 following a six-year battle with melanoma. He was 69.

Jolly McCarty

Family and friends who paid their final respects did so with smiles and countless "Jolly" stories among them.

Those stories all had themes of McCarty's well-known generosity and his numerous commitments to the betterment of the communities around him.

"All of us who are in this church today have personally witnessed the magnificent life of Jolly McCarty," said St. Pé, a longtime friend of McCarty's for the past 35 years. The two worked together on countless community projects.

"He had an unlimited capacity of giving. He was everywhere at once, and wherever he was, things got done and people were helped," St. Pé added.

The Rev. Bill Barton, who worked with McCarty on many community projects — including Homes of Grace and United Way, to mention a few — agreed.

"Friendship flowed from Jolly like a river," Barton said. "Wherever he was, he drew a crowd. You saw people come to him. When he left, he made you feel good and feel special."

Barton said he and so many others lost "a precious, precious, precious friend."

Dr. Rex Yancey, pastor of First Baptist Church, said McCarty had "a magnetic smile" and was "just plain ole fun to be around" and referred to him as the best friend he's ever had.

Yancey said McCarty recently refused a nomination for Pascagoula Rotary Club's annual Service Above Self Award, and St. Pé added that McCarty turned down a newspaper reporter's request to interview him regarding his life's accomplishments.

"He was never about awards," Yancey said. "His heart was big enough for all of us. I've never seen a leader like Jolly. His goodness had a source, and that source came from a higher power and from the goodness of his heart."

Scripture passages read during McCarty's service were testaments of his roles as a devoted husband, father, grandfather in addition to his community stewardship, all of which he approached with faith, hope and goodwill toward everyone.

A picture was placed beside McCarty's casket showing him taking a confident-looking putt on the golf course.

First Baptist Church associate pastor, Rev. Dennis Ray Smith, called McCarty "the greatest encourager I've ever known."

August 17, 2003

His friends recounted his love of golf and how he would compliment their every shot as though it were a hole-in-one every time.

Smith said McCarty's spirit remains in Jackson County.

"We don't have to comfort Jolly. We're here for the family because Jolly is with Jesus now," Smith said.

St. Pé said one of McCarty's friends commented that recent heavy rainfall was because "God's crying for joy because Jolly was coming home."

Barton referred to a book titled "How To Be A Friend," which he read more than 60 years ago in high school.

"Jolly didn't have to read that book. Jolly could have written that book," Barton said.

McCarty was "a treasure chest," St. Pé added, whose legacy for community service and friendship "with his sleeves rolled up" will be hard to duplicate.

"It will be a long, long time when we'll still be saying, 'let's call Jolly' when something needs to be done," St. Pé said.

Yancey said he told McCarty shortly before he passed that he was going to a better place, to which he said McCarty replied, "I know that and I believe that."

"The world is a better place because Jolly McCarty was here," Yancey said.

Quarterback and the manager

Doug Barfield was a skinny quarterback from the little town of Grove Hill, Ala. when he arrived on the campus of what used to be called Mississippi Southern to play football in the late 1950s.

There, he met one of the team's managers. His name?

Jolly McCarty.

Barfield, the former Auburn head coach, learned Friday of McCarty's passing.

The quarterback and the manager were a couple of years apart. But shared common values.

"We used to hitchhike together to the church, to the movies, things like that. Jolly was just a great person," Barfield, now 67, said.

Even in those simpler times at Southern, Barfield saw in McCarty the sparkling traits that would touch lives throughout Jackson County, indeed all of Mississippi.

"He had a lot of character, and a lot of integrity," Barfield said Friday. "The players didn't see him as a manager. He was one of us."

As college friends do, the quarterback and the manager drifted apart. The last time Barfield recalled talking to his old friend, McCarty was with Mississippi Power, years before McCarty would join Merchants & Marine Bank in Pascagoula, to shape a community with his giving soul and gleaming smile.

But in a sense, the two men would travel similar paths.

Paul South

Barfield, as head coach at Auburn, followed the legendary Ralph "Shug" Jordan, a job tougher than getting Madonna to church. Still, Barfield's 1979 team went 8-3, coming within a whisker of knocking off one of Paul Bryant's greatest Alabama teams. He then joined the staff at Mississippi State before returning to the high school ranks. He returned to college work as an athletic director, but now works part-time for The Alabama High School Athletic Association.

"Don't ever take a part-time job," Barfield said. "There's no such thing."

McCarty's story is well known to most. This column could be filled several times over with stories of his goodness. From the couples he helped purchase a first home to the civic campaigns and clubs he helped lead, to the countless little things he did to better the human condition, Jolly McCarty loved people.

While their chosen professions were different, there are common threads in the tapestry of their lives.

Both men raised good families. Both were devoted churchmen. Both gave beyond measure.

Barfield once was at the pinnacle of intercollegiate athletics. But for him, it was never about the spotlight. It was about building young people into men and women of character, work he does to this day.

I know. From 1977 to 1979, I was one of his managers at Auburn. He gave me a chance when almost every assistant on his staff closed the door. Washing socks and hauling Gatorade changed my life, for the better.

I did not know Jolly McCarty. But I know people who did. And over the past week, from folks of every place in our community, I've heard how "Mr. Jolly" made a difference in their lives, too. Like Barfield, McCarty shunned the limelight.

But there is a quality common to both men, an understanding of the importance of being willing to place service above self, as the Rotary motto goes.

Or as the Scriptures put it, "The first shall be last and the last first."

Both McCarty and Barfield practiced that, every day.

But perhaps the key to understanding the spirit of Jolly McCarty, the manager, and Doug Barfield, the quarterback, goes back to something Barfield said of his old college friend.

And it may explain why it will be a long, long time before all of us — even those he never met — stop missing Jolly McCarty.

"He was one of us."

McCarty left legacy of good deeds

2003 —NEWSMAKERS—

By BRAD CROCKER
Mississippi Press Staff

PASCAGOULA—Although he made so much happen behind the scenes and never sought the publicity, the late Jolly P. McCarty was The Mississippi Press' top newsmaker for 2003.

McCarty died on Aug. 28 at the age of 69 after a six-year bout with melanoma, but left a legacy and plethora of good deeds that will benefit local communities for years to come.

Jerry St. Pé, former president of Ingalls Shipbuilding and a longtime friend of McCarty, said community leaders are still asking themselves "What would Jolly do?" when faced with problems, challenges and opportunities.

St. Pé said recognizing McCarty as Newsmaker of the Year made sense but that McCarty "was also a rainmaker and was magic."

He said McCarty "understood your grasp has to surpass your reach" and approached his duties of family, career and community with an attitude of "not only can we do it, we can go far beyond that."

McCarty was the unanimous choice of The Mississippi Press staff as Newsmaker of the Year. Among others considered:

- State Sen. Tommy Robertson was a key player in legislative efforts for civil justice reform, and was re-elected to another four-year term in November. But in the fall of 2003, Robertson made headlines of a different sort when he was arrested for driving under the influence in Oxford following an Ole Miss football game. His trial is set for Feb. 9.
- Chevron Texaco executive Steve Renfroe won praise for his work toward a public television documentary on the Pascagoula River. Renfroe, who grew up on the storied waterway, worked with the Mississippi Broadcast Networks and corporate underwriters to make the film a reality.
- And nationally-known trial attorney Richard "Dickie" Scruggs also made news in 2003. Scruggs, a key player in the national tobacco settlement, testified in connection with a federal probe of lawyers and judges. Mississippi Supreme Court Justice Oliver Diaz and Ocean Springs attorney Paul Minor were among those indicted in the probe.

Scruggs, who announced that he would move a portion of his practice to Oxford, also donated the historic Gantt house to the city of Moss Point.

Scruggs, along with his wife Diane, purchased the house in 2000 with plans of relocating his Pascagoula practice there. The house, also known as the Nelson House, had been vacant 15 years and was considered an eyesore.

After the initial $250,000 acquisition, Scruggs spent several hundred thousand dollars more moving the house to the center of its lot and building a massive addition in the rear of the structure.

The Gantt house is valued at more than $1 million and will be renamed The Dickie and Diane Scruggs Institute for Compatible Development. Located at the intersection of Main and Bellview streets, the house is a gateway to downtown Moss Point.

Scruggs also has purchased land near Ed Mayo Junior High for a boys and girls club.

But when it came to the difficult task of choosing a newsmaker, McCarty was the overwhelming choice.

A native of Hattiesburg, McCarty graduated in 1957 from the University of Southern Mississippi, where he was manager of the football team.

He moved to Pascagoula in 1968 and worked for Mississippi Power Co. and was named its Pascagoula manager.

He would work for 24 years with Merchants and Marine Bank, serving as senior vice president of marketing and industrial development.

He was an active member at Pascagoula First Baptist Church, and was a former Sunday School teacher.

He was active in civic and economic development activities on the Gulf Coast for the past 35 years, including serving as chairman for seven years of the Mississippi Department of Natural Resources, president of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce and Pascagoula Rotary Club.

He was a founder of the Jackson County Economic Development Foundation and former president of the Gulf Coast Development Foundation and former recipient of the Mississippi Economic Council Man of the Year.

McCarty received the Silver Beaver, the highest volunteer award by the Boy Scouts of America and each year the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce presents its Jolly P. McCarty Award for the Outstanding Volunteer of the Year.

St. Pé has received that award.

"Today, I cherish it first and foremost," St. Pé said. "Just to have your name associated with Jolly's is one of the highest tributes one can have."

St. Pé called McCarty a "master of compromise and priorities" and he is convinced that McCarty's attitude was the reason for so many good things occurring for so many locally.

Garlick and McCarty, the children of the late Jolly McCarty of Pascagoula, represented their father as he was named one of the leading philanthropists of the year.

"Jolly planted the seed for things in 1993 and '94 that are happening now and will for a long time to come," he said.

McCarty also held offices and led campaigns for United Way, Homes of Grace and Boys and Girls Clubs of Jackson County.

"Jolly taught a lot of us about compassion and about generosity and about how to give of yourself," said St. Pé, who delivered McCarty's eulogy.

"Jolly was one of the most effective and valued leaders our community has ever known," said Elaine Kerr, retired chief professional officer of the United Way of Jackson and George Counties.

"Sometimes he led in the forefront, other times he was a team player because he was as good of a follower as a leader.

"Jolly's enthusiasm for strengthening the community and meeting human need was boundless. His legacy is an inspiration to all of us who knew him well," Kerr added.

Christy Wheeler, current United Way CPO, said during McCarty's commitment to the agency for more than 20 years he was involved with the campaigns and active in recruiting new business development and attracting new members.

He was also instrumental in the establishment of Naval Station Pascagoula and believed strongly in M&M programs such as Reading for Dollars, a project that that promoted reading by students, and other causes like Fisher House, which helps families with children with terminal illnesses.

REMEMBERING JOLLY

Depot's patio garden to be dedicated to Jolly McCarty

By LINDSAY O'QUIN
The Mississippi Press

PASCAGOULA — Jolly P. McCarty spearheaded the effort to save the L&N Depot from demolition in the 1970s.

Now decades later, the patio garden surrounding the old train depot — renamed the Jolly McCarty Art Depot and Gallery — will be dedicated to its late savior. As part of Jolly McCarty Week, the official dedication ceremony will be at 12:30 p.m. Thursday, July 7.

McCarty, who died in 2003, served as U.S. Sen. Trent Lott's first campaign manager. Lott will be on hand at the ceremony to dedicate the patio garden and to unveil a large engraved plaque that reads "Pascagoula's Greatest Champion."

Martha Bland, project chairwoman, said, "Jolly McCarty was the one who led the fight to save the Depot as he did for other places in Pascagoula. That's why they call him Pascagoula's Greatest Champion."

TO GO

What: Dedication of the Jolly McCarty Memorial Garden
When: 12:30 p.m. Thursday, July 7
Where: Jolly McCarty Art Depot, 504 Yon Ave., Pascagoula

In addition to Lott, other speakers at the 30-minute dedication ceremony include Mayor Matthew Avara; Dr. Dewey Lane, chairman of the Bacot/Jolly P. McCarty Foundation; Todd Trenchard, development consultant of the Bacot/Jolly P. McCarty Foundation; Royce Cumbest, president of Merchants & Marine Bank; and Margaret Lowell, new president of Pascagoula Garden Club.

The Rev. George Jackson of Eastlawn United Methodist Church will deliver the invocation.

Singing River Art Association will provide lemonade and cookies and Scranton's Restaurant will provide sandwiches.

Jerry Ball, retired band director at Pascagoula High School, will perform as people arrive, and Gary Anglin of First Baptist Church in Pascagoula will sing the national anthem.

Bland, past president of the Pascagoula Garden Club, said the project started during Spring Pilgrimage 2003, when a house on the tour dropped out at the last minute and the art depot took its place.

Because the historic train depot was going to be a stop on the tour, the Pascagoula Garden Club wanted to beautify the outside and inside of the building with plants and flowers.

"When we went down there to look the grounds around it, there was nothing. There was just dirt and one gardenia — I don't know how it survived — and that was it," Bland said.

"So, we brought plants and ferns and put them on the antique baggage cart outside and put flowers inside."

When Bland was elected president of the Pascagoula Garden Club the following year, she attended a district meeting at which she learned of community projects garden clubs can initiate. One of projects was to plant a garden outside a historic building.

With the idea to create a garden at the Jolly McCarty Art Depot and Gallery, Bland ran into a few roadblocks.

Kevin Hall, design consultant for the City of Pascagoula, informed the club about the building's termite contract, which states nothing could be planted in the ground because watering the plants would attract termites. Instead, he designed a plan that included a brick patio, lampposts and container plants.

The second roadblock was a big one. Bland learned the proposed project was going to cost more than $20,000, and the club's 16 members could not generate revenue to follow through with the plan.

With the help of Betty Bensey, director of community development, Bland wrote her first request for a grant to National Garden Clubs Inc., which awarded the Pascagoula Garden Club a $500 grant for the project. The City of Pascagoula and Main Street Pascagoula donated $6,000 worth of pots and benches, Bland said.

Bland also sent out letters for donations to corporations, businesses and individuals, which has brought in almost $5,000.

Carlsa Anderson/The Mississippi Press

The Pascagoula Garden Club and Singing River Art Association raised funds to create a patio garden in front of the Jolly McCarty Art Depot and Gallery.

Bland wrote her second request for a grant to Judi Cleary at the Mississippi Arts Commission, where Bland encountered her third roadblock. She had to prove that the garden patio and other outdoor additions would benefit Singing River Art Association, who display their work at the depot.

Sandy Ford, former SRAA president, suggested the patio could be used for numerous projects, including monthly art sales and Zonta Day in the Plaza. Art students could set their easels on the patio and sketch their work, or visitors could sit on the benches during exhibit receptions.

Ford and Bland's ideas were accepted and the Mississippi Arts Commission agreed to grant the club $3,000 for the project.

oversee the disbursement of funds to organizations and causes that Bacot and McCarty both cherished — charitable, literary and educational purposes, including the arts.

Eldest son Lance McCarty, a partner with Fletcher Construction, sees the foundation as a continuation of his father's work. "I see a group of people taking on a task that he was doing for years and years," he said. "You'd hate to see all his work suddenly stop."

He said he is grateful to those who support the foundation. "We never would have been able to continue what Daddy was doing any other way," he said.

Lance McCarty has found it difficult sometimes to realize his father is gone. "It's been tough," he said. "There are times I'll be riding down the road and a question will come to mind, and I'll think, 'I'll just call Daddy.'"

His most vivid memory of his father was his love of people. "He wanted to make sure you were having a good time. He was not going to be satisfied until you were happy, whether it was a customer or family," he said. "He wanted to make you feel like you were the most important person."

Jennifer McCarty Garlich, a banker, makes a point to keep her father real to her two sons, Stone, 9, and Cale, 6. "Every time he's honored, I've tried to magnify that for my two boys," she said.

McCarty taught his children to respect and love all people and treat everyone the same. "Of course I've tried to pass that on to my own children," she said.

She's still amazed to hear stories about her father's good works from longtime friends and strangers. "It's breathtaking to hear about everything he did," she said.

"People say 'You're just like your daddy,' but I'm not at all. Those are big shoes to fill."

Youngest son Landon McCarty, also a banker, said these two years have been a period of adjustment for life without the family patriarch. "It's definitely hard with him being gone, because you get used to relying," he said.

He said McCarty wasn't one to seek the spotlight, but if he was thrust in it, he would shine brightly.

"He would have really appreciated this," he said.

Landon McCarty said his father was a champion for Pascagoula up until his death. He said Pascagoula wasn't necessarily better because he was in it, but "because he was a part of it."

Weeklong celebration ends with gala, golf tournament

By DONNA HARRIS
The Mississippi Press

GAUTIER — More than a week of celebrations honoring the late Jolly P. McCarty will end Saturday with a golf tournament in his name.

The Jolly McCarty Memorial Shane Matthews Terrell Buckley Celebrity Golf Classic blasts off with a double-shotgun start at Shell Landing Resort.

Hosted by the Bacot/Jolly P. McCarty Foundation, the tournament and the gala and silent auction held at Grand Casino Biloxi tonight, will serve as both a fund-raising event and a gift to the community.

An invitation-only gala tonight will bring several hundred people to the Islandview Ballroom for food, a silent auction and entertainment by Marcel Evans, formerly of The Drifters.

Susan Walker, community development director for Grand Casino Biloxi, said the casino has a history of community involvement. "Jolly McCarty was just a sweet man. We're excited to be involved with anything that has his name on it," she said.

The Grand gives more than $250,000 yearly in cash awards and $150,000 in in-kind services. They recently won the Corporate GIVE (Governor's Initiative on Volunteer Excellence) Award and the Governor's Cup for community involvement.

This past year, among other events, Grand Biloxi has hosted the Shining Star Ball for the Gulf Coast Boys and Girls Club and the Brett Favre Foundation's Faith Hill concert, which raised money for a breast cancer support fund.

"Grand Casinos is very dedicated to supporting its local community," said spokesperson Joely Pique. "Each endeavor is taken on with pride in the fact that each associate is doing their part to make the Gulf Coast a better community to live and work in."

Giving back shows in Youth For Christ

By CLAIR BYRD
The Mississippi Press

The direct effects of some foundations may never be seen, but the Mississippi Gulf Coast Youth for Christ is proof of the helping hand the Bacot/Jolly P. McCarty Foundation can give.

Youth For Christ is an international outreach program that focuses on the evangelism of the youth population.

The Rev. Brad Holt is the executive director of the Mississippi Gulf Coast chapter that oversees programs in Jackson, Harrison, Hancock and George counties.

The organization reaches youth through on-campus programs at public schools and ministers at local detention centers. Holt said there are a total of 16 programs in the four counties and nine of those are in Jackson County schools.

"There are more in Jackson (County) than any other area, in large part due to this foundation," Holt said.

"Jolly was concerned about getting kids to Christ at an early age, 10, 11, 12," said Mac McInnis, a member of the board of directors of both the Bacot/Jolly P. McCarty Foundation and Youth For Christ.

"His faith was important to him. Kids were important to him," McInnis said.

Cindy Whitley, a YFC volunteer at Gautier Middle School, said McCarty helped with fund-raising for the organization and believed in giving back to his community. According to Whitley, it takes $25,000 per year to keep the programs going.

Whitley, who is the coordinator of the group's fund-raising banquets, said McCarty would help with their golf tournaments and was good at handling the business and financial end of events.

"He had connections within the town and got other like-minded people to get involved," she said.

McInnis said the Youth For Christ organization is important to South Mississippi.

"It's the only tool that I know of that the word of Jesus is getting in the school system," he said.

"When the program started, it was tough to get into schools. Then the word got out and the phone started ringing. Now we have 12 schools waiting for us to get in," McInnis said.

Holt agreed and stressed that the group only goes where it is wanted — schools and communities have to ask the group to join them.

Holt said YFC is more than just meetings. He said staff members "take the time to be their friends and earn the right to be heard."

Whitley said the program at Gautier Middle School started in March and since then there has been a decline in the discipline level. She hopes to see a rise in the academic level as well.

The group has on-campus programs, called Campus Life, and other activities, like the Xtreme Center with skateboard ramps, video games and pool tables, where youths can go every Saturday night from 7 to 10:30 for $5.

Holt said the Xtreme Center takes a break each night for them to "talk about God's plan for their life."

Boys and Girls Club misses resourceful helper

PASCAGOULA — When it came to helping kids, Jolly McCarty was all ears and heart.

Catherine Glaude, executive director of the Boys and Girls Club of Jackson County, said when McCarty learned around 11 years ago the financial needs of the organization, he began lending his time and resources as a member of the organization's advisory board and gathering support from many others.

"That's how everything got started, because we really, really needed some help," Glaude said.

The golf tournament that he organized was a good start, she said, a project McCarty was involved with until his death in 2003.

"Jolly jumped in and did what he needed to do and each year there was something where he got involved with in the club," Glaude said.

One year, two boys from the club played on McCarty's team during the golf tournament.

"That was impressive," Glaude said. "He would take time out with the kids and teach them how to (drive) and hit the long balls."

Glaude said McCarty's specialty was for club members to have opportunities to be involved with other enriching activities such as drama, sports, school and others.

"He really believed in our mission, because we cater to youth who come from difficult circumstances," she said.

In a recent interview, McCarty's son, Lance, said his father lived "to make a child smile" and cared about their progress and goals.

"Daddy instilled in all of (his children) that helping others was the right thing to do," Lance McCarty said.

McCarty won the prestigious Eddie Khayat Award several years ago, Glaude said, "because of what he did for Boys and Girls Club for many years."

The club has programs year-round and McCarty was always interested in everything going on, Glaude said.

"I know everybody says, this but all I had to do was pick up a phone and call Jolly and there would be some type of answer, and many times something already done, by the time you talked to him again," Glaude said.

"Jolly was so very, very important to our organization, and we really miss him," Glaude added.

"There are so many children in Jackson County who have benefited from his work and his love for them and it makes the rest of us all realize how wonderful he was and still is. Jolly was truly a one of a kind."

McCarty Activity Building named for late Home of Grace board member

By JOY E. STODGHILL
The Mississippi Press

VANCLEAVE — Jolly P. McCarty spent time helping to build the Home of Grace Christian Recovery Program.

According to Billy Barton, executive director of the program, McCarty was "instrumental in raising funds" for the construction processes of doing dirt work and preparing the sewer system and, later, putting together some buildings.

"He was a great man, a fine person. He always seemed to want to help and went out of his way to do that," Barton said.

Last year, McCarty's name was used on a Home of Grace tournament to raise money for an activity building. Because of McCarty's longtime service with the Home, the activity building was named for him.

This year the Home of Grace will continue with its own tournament, and the McCarty tournament will benefit the Bacot/Jolly P. McCarty Foundation.

The Rev. Bill Barton Sr., founder of the Home of Grace, said McCarty served on the board three different times for three-year terms. He was on the board at the time of his death.

"It was a pleasure to work with him. He was highly motivated. He had a desire to help people," Barton Sr. said. "He has meant a lot to our program over the years."

In regards to the building named in McCarty's memory, Barton Sr. said, "It will just be a monument to his life."

Accendo home carries on McCarty vision

By JOY E. STODGHILL
The Mississippi Press

GAUTIER — Discipline, love, family.

This is the goal of Gautier's Accendo Christian Academy, a safe haven for boys 10 to 18 from across the United States and around the world.

Like other groups the Bacot/Jolly P. McCarty Foundation has helped, Accendo has a story, a vision and a dream.

The Accendo story officially began three years ago in July 2002, but was conceived earlier in the form of a dream, a divine calling to a local couple.

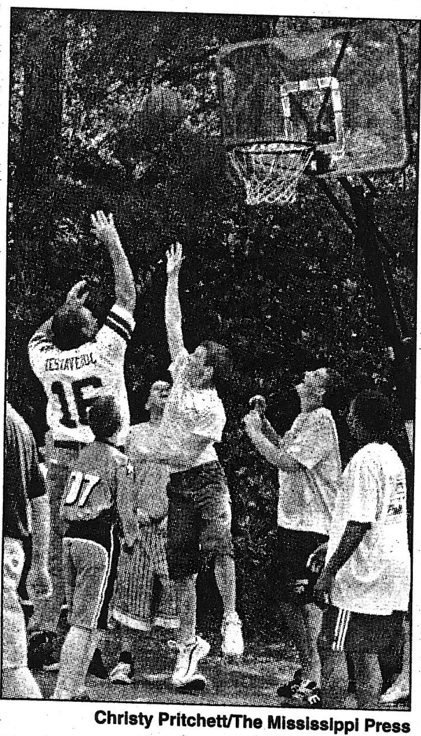
Tommy and Bonnie Fortenberry say they have a passion for helping boys who either have nowhere else to go, or need help in some other way way.

"God has put a burden on my heart to help them. I believe God has called me and my wife, Bonnie, both," Fortenberry said. "We open our home and hearts. Every one of these children are very valuable to us."

He went on to add that he strives to be a spiritual leader and mentor for them and is often the only dad some of them have ever known.

Laughter and jokes fill the dark brown, A-frame house these boys call home. The days are filled with school, Bible studies, basketball, boxing, chores and community service.

Everyone pitches in and helps each other. The Fortenberrys' homeschool the boys through the Accelerated Christian Education program.



Christy Pritchett/The Mississippi Press

Tommy Fortenberry makes a hoop in a game with the boys of Accendo Christian Academy in Gautier.

The academy is far from being a military-style boarding school or boot camp. While discipline is key and is enforced strictly, this discipline is wrapped in love and Christian education.

"This is a place of self-correctiveness. If you get a child to change his heart his mind will follow. If there's a change in these children, then it comes from Jesus Christ," Fortenberry said.

He loves each of the boys as if they were his own sons and longs to see them change their lives and succeed. He is confident that with God's help, each boy who comes into the academy will leave as a promising young man.

"These kids have something to say," he said. "There will be great men of God who come through here."

Fortenberry said that with the increasing ages of men like preachers Billy Graham and T. D. Jakes, men need to come out of this teenage generation who will take up the work Graham and Jakes have been carrying. He believes some of these men will come through Accendo.

He added that he hopes he can be there for them if they reach that point to drive their bus or anything — just as long as he is there to be proud of where they have come from and who they have become.

According to Fortenberry, Royce Cumbest, CEO of Merchants & Marine Bank, is a "vital part of our ministry." Cumbest was instrumental in urging Fortenberry to apply for the grant.

Fortenberry said of Cumbest, "He has a generous heart toward youth and the youth of this community."

The foundation awarded the academy a $5,000 grant. Fortenberry said the money came right when they needed it. The boys have been asked to help at the golf tournament on July 16.

"The real key to the operation is the dedication Tommy and Bonnie, his wife, give to the home. They're 24-7. It's a Christ-centered environment. I really admire Tommy and his wife," Cumbest said.

He explained that the foundation benefits "youth organizations and educational activities in Jackson County." He said that "it perfectly fit" the mold for organizations the foundation helps.

Cumbest said, "Kids need more support and encouragement and less criticism today."

The Fortenberrys can only keep a household of boys now, but would like to expand one day. Fortenberry said he turns down more than 150 calls in a month's time.

"I wish I had room for thousands. I do in my heart," he said.

praised McCarty's inspirational impact in Jackson County.

"Jolly McCarty was a team builder. He inspired people to work together, put differences aside and work for the greater good of the community," Ocean Springs Mayor Connie Moran said.

Moran, who is a former county economic development director, said McCarty always had a smile and made everyone feel welcome, regardless if it was people he saw every day or special high level prospects.

"Even when I was the managing director of the State of Mississippi's European office, he came over on some of the business missions," she said "He was an asset and an ambassador for Mississippi wherever he went."

"He was just a person who could get things done for the right reasons," she said.

She said McCarty was at the helm of the Nike Golf tournament when it was held at the Mississippi National Golf Club in Gautier that benefited the Boys and Girls Clubs.

"We used that event to welcome our business prospects and to highlight our quality of life," Moran said.

"Whether it was chamber work, base closure issues or support for the military, he was always there; he was a leader. He was one of a kind. He always brightened your day.

"We need more like him," Moran said.

"Jolly McCarty was a living legend in Mississippi — a giant in community service," said Jim McIngvale of Northrop Grumman Ship Systems, a former Jackson County Chamber of Commerce and Economic Development foundation chairman.

"Every community development, charitable and economic development project along the Coast over the last four decades was made better by his leadership and involvement," McIngvale said. "He remains a personal role model of mine as to how a community leader and family man should live. I miss him still."

Foundation

"I think this foundation is going to make quite a difference in this community," Trenchard said.

Lane said members of the McCarty family supported the merger because it fits their desire to have only one organization using Jolly McCarty's name.

"The plan now is to build this foundation through fund raising and private donations," Lane said.

The foundation's main fund-raiser is the Jolly McCarty Memorial Shane Matthews Terrell Buckley Celebrity Golf Classic hosted by the foundation.

"This fund-raiser has really caught fire. People have really responded to that. That just shows there are lot of generous people in this area who really want to support the same things Jolly was involved in," Lane said.

Evelyn McCarty wants the foundation to achieve all her husband's dreams.

"They wanted a family member on the board. That is why they asked me. They wanted consent to use Jolly's name. So, my children and I got together and said it would be OK," she said.

Jolly McCarty wanted Pascagoula to be a wonderful place for his grandchildren and all our friends, she said.

"Pascagoula was his family. He came from a small family and all of his family is deceased. It was his home the minute he came here.

"Jolly wanted (Pascagoula) to be the best place in the world to raise our children and for other people to raise their children ... and a wonderful place to live. A Camelot for people," Evelyn McCarty said.

"Life goes on and everybody can be replaced. There are just some great people in our town doing a heck of a lot of good. They are doing wonderful things and we do have a wonderful town to live in and I hope we can keep it that way. The Gulf Coast is a wonderful place. We are very fortunate to be here," she said.

PASCAGOULA — Evelyn McCarty can look at pictures of her husband without crying. Sometimes.

Jolly P. McCarty died August 2003 after battling melanoma for nearly 12 years. He left behind a grieving widow, three children and several young grandchildren who will remember him mostly through the stories told by others.

He also left behind friends who miss him still.

Royce Cumbest, president and CEO of Merchants & Marine Bank, still hears McCarty's laughter in the mornings from his office in the main branch on Jackson Avenue in Pascagoula. Usually the comforting sound comes when Cumbest needs it the most.

"I miss Jolly's laughter as much as anything. When he walked in, he just lit up the room," he said. "It was always a boost to me and to a lot of people to hear him come in. And after he passed away, sometimes it was almost like I could still hear it again."

McCarty and Cumbest became friends in the early 1970s while working at competing banks. McCarty, who was a marketing specialist, recruited Cumbest as a loan officer for a new bank that was forming. They worked well together in business and life, and when Cumbest moved on to M&M Bank, he recruited McCarty to join his team.

That partnership lasted 24 years.

Cumbest said he misses McCarty's encouraging manner. "Jolly was always looking out for people. If you had a big task ahead of you, Jolly was very much a part of the process. He was always the cheerleader," he said. "Jolly was the spirit leader of the bank. His spirit permeated the organization, and it encouraged all of us to do better than we would have done otherwise. It's no doubt that we wouldn't be where we are today if Jolly hadn't been part of it."

McCarty was successful at most everything he did. Even his battle with cancer could be termed a success in that he earned extra years of his life through an experimental program at the National Institute for Health's Cancer Center in Maryland.

"The odds weren't good, but he lived for another six years because of it," Cumbest said.

McCarty grew up in Hattiesburg with a mother, and an older brother and sister. He attended the University of Southern Mississippi, where he also graduated with a degree in geology. He spent a brief time in the Army and worked on a drilling rig before getting a job with Mississippi Power Co. in Gulfport.

After a transfer to offices in Laurel, he met Evelyn Stone, a home economist with Mississippi Power who was five years his junior.

He stood her up on their first date.

"I didn't even speak to him for two weeks," she said. "I told him, 'I'll never go out with you.'"

She eventually gave in and he proposed soon after. They were married six months later, and were together for 40 years.

They raised three children in Pascagoula — Lance, Landon and Jennifer — then moved to his dream home at Hickory Hills in Gautier, where he could enjoy his favorite pastime.

McCarty loved to golf and, through his marketing endeavors, could be found often working business deals from a golf cart.

He believed that everyone should come off the course a winner.

"It didn't matter what your shot looked like, Jolly always said 'Good Shot!'" said family friend Annie Mai Jamison.

"And your score was always better than your shot," Evelyn McCarty added.

Bud Boland of Pascagoula was McCarty's friend for more than 20 years. The two hit it off almost immediately. "He was just a good friend," he said.

McCarty has been described as one of "Life's Greatest Champions" by various organizations in memorials to him. He was honored recently with city, county and state proclamations for Jolly McCarty Week, which continues through Saturday.

He was known throughout the Coast area for the generous donation of his time and energy for many charities and organizations.

He was active in civic and economic development activities on the Coast for more than 35 years. He served as chairman for seven years of the Mississippi Department of Natural Resources, president of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce and Pascagoula Rotary Club. He was founder of the Jackson County Economic Foundation and was named Mississippi Economic Council's Man of the Year. He was also named United Way's Humanitarian of the Year, posthumously.

Last year, his legacy of good work for the community found a voice in the Bacot/Jolly P. McCarty Foundation, created by adding McCarty's name to a longtime foundation started by Bertha Bacot for her husband, Ed Bacot, now both deceased.

McCarty's widow and friend and colleague Mike Dickson joined the board of directors and
